"I HAVE WON," WALLY REID'S DEATH CRY

WALLY REID AND HIS FAMILY

Wanted World to Know He Had Conquered Drug Habit Even Though Death Was the Price

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—"Tell them, mamma, I have won—I have come back." These were the last words of Wallace Reid, stricken motion picture star, uttered to his wife, Dorothy Davenport, during the last moments of consciousness before death came to him.

He referred to his battle against drugs. His past conscious thoughts were that his friends should know that even in death he had won.

The studio world that knew Reid as a friend and companion and the film loving public that delighted in Reid's effervescent portrayal of youth in hero roles, joined sorrowing today over his passing.

Messages of sympathy poured into

LANDLADY CITES 'MEANEST THIEF'

Edward F. Morgan of No. 248 Newburry street, who was called "the meanest thief who ever came before me," by Judge Creed of Municipal Court last week for stealing $401 from Miss Alice Lauzon of No. 153 Huntington avenue, Back Bay, after he had "saved it up" for her, appeared before Judge Burke today on another larceny charge.

Miss Annie Robinson, landlady of the house in which Morgan boarded, lost $2,600 in the Inter-city Trust Company. She told her troubles to Morgan.

"I'll get it for you. I know a lawyer who will take the job for $200. You give me $300, I'll put $200 with it, and we'll go after them," Morgan said is said to have told his landlady.

She gave him the $300.

Today Miss Robinson said that Morgan "lived out" his $200 by failing to pay any board for four months

CALLS HUGHES ON BOYDEN'S STATUS

By International News Service.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Senatorial uneasiness over the course being pursued by Roland W. Boyden, unofficial American representative on the Allied Reparations Commission, culminated today in the Senate, was considered by the committee to Foreign Relations Committee today and to call Secretary of State Hughes to appear before it with an explanation of Boyden's status and activities.

A written report from Secretary Hughes, covering Boyden's work, was considered by the committee to be "unsatisfactory."

ACCUSED 90 TIMES, ADMITS HIS GUILT

Gardner Jackson, after being put on trial before Judge John F. Brown and jury on an indictment charging him in ninety counts with forgery and larceny today pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the House of Correction for one year.

Jackson's scheme was to purchase goods in a department store and give a forged check for a larger amount than the sale and receive the difference in cash. Several of the large stores were victimized.

2 MAN HELICOPTER FLIGHT A SUCCESS

The De Bothezat helicopter, invented and built at McCook Field, was the machine used in the tests, which came a little more than a month after the first successful flight on December 18, when only one man was aboard.

The helicopter ascended about three feet from the ground, rising vertically. It descended without trouble and the flight was repeated several times with both men aboard.

75,000 GREEKS ON THRACIAN LINE

Paris, Jan. 19 (By the Associated Press).—Dispatches received by the French Foreign Office indicate that the Greeks now have about 75,000 men concentrated on the west bank of the Maritza River, which forms the boundary between Western Thrace and the territory lately turned over to the Turks.

Shots are frequently exchanged with the Turks across the river. The Allies have made repeated representations to the Athens government to the effect that this concentration of forces is a danger to peace, but without result.

The impression in French circles is that the Greeks, in view of a possible breakup of the Lausanne conference, desire to be ready to forestall any move by the Turks into Western Thrace.

WIFE DECLARES CROKER LEFT WILL

Dublin, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Richard Croker, widow of the former New York City Tammany leader, today applied to the courts to have her husband's will proven. She asserted that he left a will, and did not die intestate, as had been alleged in the suit filed against the estate by sons by a former marriage. The Judge issued an order requesting the American court at Palm Beach to turn over the Croker will to the Irish Probate Court.

GRILL 400 FIREMEN ON EXAMS

Civil Service Board Probes Report of Missing Papers at Lieutenancy Test

Between 400 and 500 Boston firemen who took civil service examinations on January 5 for appointment to lieutenancies are on the grill before the Civil Service Commission.

The disappearance of twelve question papers and the report of alleged whispering and talking between the candidates in the examination room started the "fireworks."

Commissioner Payson Dana admitted today that each fireman who took the examination will be questioned.

"I will throw out the papers of every man who is in any way connected with the missing papers or who discussed the examination with others in the examination room," declared Mr. Dana.

One fireman admitted, under grilling, that he laid his question paper on his desk, at the close of the examination, thinking it unnecessary to return it to the monitor, as is required.

COACH CAVANAUGH'S PICKPOCKET GUILTY

Major Frank Cavanaugh, Boston College football coach, stood in the vestibule of a crowded car approaching Kenmore station. A twist of the car attracted his attention to a list withdrawing from his pocket and clutching $20. He reached. A man attempted to duck. Passengers yelled. Police arrived and took the prisoner, Today in Roxbury Court, Harry Green of West Newton street, admitted a finding of guilty. Disposition will be made next Friday.

HERRIN MINE JURY STILL DEADLOCKED

Marion, Ill., Jan. 19 (By Associated Press).—The jury which has been considering the fate of the five men charged with murder in connection with the Herrin riots resumed its deliberations at 8 o'clock this morning with no indication of having reached any decision.

Judge D. T. Hartwell announced he would call in the bailiffs before night and inquire how the jurors stood.

Accused by Mate

MRS. GERTRUDE F. FLOYD.

Newburyport wife whom husband charged entertained other men at parties. He is seeking a divorce. He denies knowledge of a "Dear Pal" note found in his pocket.

"DEAR OLD PAL" LETTER WENT ASTRAY

A "dear old pal" letter, found in the pocket of Percy F. Floyd of Newburyport by his wife, Gertrude, whom he is suing for divorce, was not his, but had been written to another, according to Mrs. Ethel Gale of Boston, who testified in Middlesex County Divorce Court today.

Mrs. Gale identified the letter. She said that it had been written by her and sent to a Jack Curtis of Brookline. Neither she nor Floyd were able to explain how the note happened to be in the latter's pocket.

The note was introduced by Mrs. Floyd to show that her husband was receiving attentions from Mrs. Gale. The letter read:

"Dear Old Pal. We are going down to the beach today. If you are good you can come along and have a little nap on the sofa and fancy I am with you. Will see you tomorrow, dear. Love and kisses and everything."

Gladys B. Creighton continued her testimony relative to parties, at which she and Mrs. Floyd entertained men. She said on several occasions the two women had attended parties with six men from Gardner.

WAITRESS ACCUSES JOHNNY VETO, BOXER

John Chinchillo, known in the boxing world as Johnny Vito, of No. 178 Pearl street, Chelsea, was held in bail of $3,000 today on a charge of attacking Mrs. Amelia Walker of No. 208 Linden avenue, Everett, cashier in a Chelsea restaurant. The boxer denied all the accusations. He furnished surety.

COAL MINE HEADS UNDER ARREST

Essen, Jan. 19.—(By International News Service)—Five thousand German miners, employed in the Prussian State-owned coal mines, which were requisitioned by the French, went on strike this afternoon.

Berlin, Jan. 19 (By International News Service Radio).—The French today temporarily closed and occupied all the Rhineland branches of the Reichsbank to obtain data for a customs bill, which is now being drawn up by the French.

Dusseldorf, Jan. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The French today appropriated the money in the Dusseldorf branch of the Reichsbank, rounded up the automobiles of depositors who had come to the bank to draw money, seized the money withdrawn and retained possession of the automobiles.

All the other banking institutions in Dusseldorf closed at 2 o'clock, unable to carry on business owing

CRIPPLE SAVED AT WEST END BLAZE

One woman was carried down three flights of stairs and forty persons were driven to the street by fire in a four and a half story building at No. 121 Court street today. The woman carried out was Priscilla Murphy, forty years old, a cripple. She was working in a clothing shop on the third floor. Patrolman Hagan and Crowley carried her out. There were ten women and thirty men employed in clothing shops in the building.

AIRPLANES USED IN IRISH FIGHT

Dublin, Jan. 19.—A violent battle by Free Staters and Republicans was reported from Tipperary tonight. Airplanes took part. There were many casualties.

PRESIDENT HARDING STILL IMPROVING

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Harding continued to improve today, but under the doctor's orders will remain in seclusion at the White House until he entirely shakes off his attack of grippe. The President is transacting no official business and continues to spend most of his time lying down in his room.

STOLE TROLLEY CAR FOR JOY RIDE; FINED

Two East Lexington youths who ended their New Year celebration by stealing an Elevated trolley car and taking a joy ride were fined today in East Cambridge Court. Stephen F. Reynolds of No. 103½ Massachusetts avenue was fined $50 and Bernard W. Foley of Sutter avenue $20. They were given until April to pay.

General Strike on Railroads In the Ruhr Set For Tonight

Essen, Jan. 19 (By the Associated Press).—A general strike of the freight railwaymen throughout the Ruhr is expected tonight. Orders for the strike were received from Berlin this morning by the railroad workers, and at noon the union leaders were in session with the orders before them. The French expect them to repudiate their promises to continue work and obey the instructions from Berlin.

The president of the District Railway Administration of Essen refused today to dispatch coal trains, rejecting the French demands for shipments.

Seizure of State mines in the Ruhr by the forces of occupation was begun today. The Bergmannsglueck and Westerhold pits, near Ruer were occupied by the military, and Manager Ahrens was arrested for refusing to deliver coke. Troops appeared at the Moeller pits at Gindbock and at the Rheinbaden mines at Bottrop.

French troops today took possession of four coke ovens belonging to the Reich, at Recklinghausen, and arrested the director, Herr Rochstein, who refused to hand over the records.

Dr. Raiffeisen, president of the State mine administration at Recklinghausen, responded to an invitation to appear before the military authorities and had not returned up to this afternoon. It is believed he was arrested.

It is reported that when the French representatives attempted to enter some of the mines that were seized the workers became greatly agitated, threatening that all the miners would come out of the pits if the French entered.

France Ready to Pay 550,000 Germans

Paris, Jan. 19 (By the Associated Press).—The French government will be ready to provide for the needs of the Ruhr district in currency on the next payday in case the German government remains obdurate and withholds the needed facilities for payment, it was said in official circles today. A special issue of local currency is in view with the resources of the Ruhr Valley as a guarantee.

The special issue will probably be made in marks, although the French government is ready to undertake the substitution of francs if it becomes necessary.

The opinion is advanced that if the French franc is once introduced, as in the case of the Sarre Valley, it would be difficult to get it out again without a conflict with the inhabitants.

On the payroll of all the Ruhr industries are 550,000 workmen. Their weekly wages now amount to 15,400,000,000 paper marks.

French Take Over Rhineland Customs

Coblenz, Jan. 19 (By the Associated Press).—Five French chief inspectors took over the Customs Districts of the Rhineland today, making a complete ring around the territory. The same will be done in a few days in the Ruhr Valley.

The inspectors seized the Customs funds, forests and coal taxes here.

The French are operating throughout the British area around Cologne, the British agreeing not to oppose the French sanctions so long as their application does not involve the use of British troops.

Prices of various commodities have almost doubled over night throughout the Rhineland, but the mark remains stationary at 21,000 to the dollar.

There will be no attempt, it is stated, to establish a fiscal customs line between the occupied district and Germany, as was done in May, 1921, and no trains will be stopped or passengers interfered with.

Flying squads, however, will from time to time make tours of investigation. Some of these raids have begun already, owing to the tendency to ship good into Germany.

French Deputy Arrested In Ruhr Red Plot

Paris, Jan. 19. (By International News Service).—Marcel Cachin, Communist member of the French Chamber of Deputies, was arrested today in connection with the recent Red plot against the French in the Rhineland. The Chamber voted to suspend Cachin's parliamentary immunity so the arrest could be made. The voting was attended by rioting.

BEFORE AND DURING ILLNESS

WALLACE REID

children played and talked of the day when "Daddy" would come back to them.

His physicians announced today the direct cause of his death was hypostatic congestion of the lungs and renal suppression which developed a slow poisoning, which caused death.

Mrs. Reid's friends expressed serious concern for her condition today.

REAL ROMANCE.

The love story of "Dot" Davenport and "Wally" was more charming and beautiful than any he ever enacted on the screen. It was at the threshold of success that their romance came. Miss Davenport had already "arrived." She came to the movies and he was assigned as her director.

He fell in love, wooed her impetuously and won her, much in the same dashing fashion that he won the heroines of the screen. They were married eight years ago. Miss Davenport gave up her stage and screen career to make Mr. Reid home one of the most delightful in Hollywood.

She was with her husband constantly during his fight. Bravely and without reserve she gave the news to the world of his hard-a-and night and day nursed him in his last illness. He died in her arms.

Almost until the last Reid's thoughts were centred upon returning to work. In moments of delirium he would call for his chauffeur to take him to the studio. But a few days before his death, he was visited by Teddy Hayes, trainer to Jack Dempsey, who had been Reid's athletic adviser.

TRIBUTE OF FILM WORLD.

Reid wanted to know when Jack Dempsey would box again and had Hayes play a saxophone record on the phonograph—Wally's favorite instrument.

All work ceased at the Lasky Studio, where Reid was employed, as soon as word of his death was received and the entire film world is expected to cease activities Monday as a final mark of respect.

The pretentious Reid home is reported to have been slightly mortgaged during the last days of Reid's illness. However, the star is said to have had $70,000 life insurance.

Drug Sermon in His Death, Mother Says

New York, Jan. 19.—"My boy died a martyr to principle. He made up his mind he would conquer drugs or die in the attempt. He is dead, but he is a victor in death."

Mrs. Bertha Westbrook Reid, widowed mother of Wally Reid, the moving picture star, who died in Los Angeles after a futile struggle with th after-effects of drug poisoning, th is characterised his passing.

SERMON IN DEATH.

"I pray that his death will accomplish a great purpose and I feel that it will," she continued. "It will probably accomplish more than volumes of sermons, or warnings, or crusades against this horrible drug evil.

"If he had weakened and taken some drugs to still the pangs he suffered he probably would be alive at this moment, but he braved the torment, and finally his weakened system succumbed to the ills that were the immediate cause of his death."

Mrs. Reid said her son was an only child. He was born in St. Louis, Mo., thirty years ago, and there first went to school. After his high school days he attended Parkomee College, near Allentown, Pa., a preparatory school for Princeton, where she had intended to send him.

Young Reid, however, showed a liking for the stage and also for motion pictures, and when his time came, Mrs. Reid said, something over ten years ago, he began his screen career.

"Wally" Reid was the son of Hal Reid, author of several well-known melodramas, and an actor. Hal Reid was divorced by "Wally's" mother, an actress and his collaborator, in 1901. They had married in Kansas City in 1889. His first wife, formerly Mabel Withers, of Cincinnati, obtained a divorce in 1899.

The playwright in 1916 married at Middletown, N. Y., Mariolla Russell, of Goshen. They had appeared together in the movies.

Hays Expresses His Regret on Reid's Death

Washington, Jan. 19 (By International News Service).—Keen regret at the passing of Wallace Reid, film star, was expressed here today, by Will H. Hays, "boss" of the movie industry. "I was very, very sorry to learn of Reid's death" said Hays. "I was a real admirer of Reid, particularly on account of the great courage he displayed in his losing fight against a complicated illness. I have genuine regret at his untimely death."

BULLETINS

Munster, (By A. P.).—Dr. Andreas Hermes, Federal Minister of Finance, has arrived here to assume supreme command of the German economic and financial defensive campaign against the French occupation.

Berlin (By International News Service).—Three Polish divisions were reported today near Suwalki, on the German-Polish frontier.

London.—Fenner Brockway, leader of the Independent Laborites, today summoned a mass meeting to arouse public opin'on over the danger of war against Russia with Turkey and Germany siding with Russia.

Paris.—France plans an independent, autonomous State on the Rhineland "if Germany refuses France's terms for an indemnity settlement," it was declared in official circles.

London.—It is reported at Copenhagen the Russian Soviet has sent half a million rifles into India, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch.

Paris.—France is buying coal in Great Britain to prevent the Germans getting British fuel, the Echo de Paris stated today, and declared these purchases responsible for fall in value of the franc.

Berlin.—German marks here are less valuable than the paper and ink in them. In private transactions 25,000 were exchanged for one American dollar.

A Good Tire Idea
14 Days on $7
Dangerous, Not Wicked
The Iron Man Trotzky

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

MR. FIRESTONE, who makes tires, says England controls 85 per cent. of the world's crude rubber, while the United States buys 70 per cent. of it. He says British legislation has cut down production to keep prices up, and he wants this government to develop rubber production in South America and the Philippines. A good American idea. It would be hard on tire users if able British business men applied to rubber the tight control of prices they now apply to diamonds. With diamonds it makes no difference.

DR. DANNMEYER, a German scientist and author, professor in Hamburg University, arrived here with some marks, a month's salary from the German government. For his marks he got $7, and lived on that in America fourteen days, eating rolls and chocolate. Yesterday he sailed away as a seaman before the mast. He came here to finish up an important book on the development of light ships.

The professor changed his marks into dollars just in time. Had he waited until yesterday, he would have had to live the two weeks on about $2.

BEFORE THE war you could buy four marks for a dollar. Yesterday you could buy about 25,000 for a dollar. War doesn't pay. Even France, victorious, is slowly realizing it.

France, worth nearly 20 cents before the war, were a little over 8 cents yesterday. Even the powerful pound sterling fell down a little.

THE CONFERENCE in Washington is over for the time being. The gentlemen will go home, and "both sides are hopeful," it is said. England wanted to pay in fifty years, with interest at 3 per cent.

A distinguished English preacher, female, honors us with her presence, and says wealth is "not wicked, but it is dangerous."

For her information, it may be stated that over here poverty is also dangerous.

WHAT THE DANGERS of wealth are, the preaching young lady knows. The dangers of poverty include sick children, lack of opportunity for them, lack of coal, of good food, of sunshine.

In spite of wealth's dangers, there are more than a hundred millions of Americans prepared to risk them.

OF ALL THAT originally managed Russia's revolution, the one that seems made of cast iron, able to stand the strain, is Trotzky, the Jew.

Lenin is ill, unable to take part in the government. Lunacharsky, Minister of Education, struggles with heart trouble. Others are in the hands of their doctors. But Trotzky goes ahead, not bothered by twenty hours of work a day.

"The Iron Man" they call him. He got his constitution through persecution in the past. If among his ancestors any couldn't stand work, worry and danger, they were soon knocked on the head. He is Darwin's "survival of the fittest," in real life, and in a fine Russian uniform.

DIVORCE ENDS SECRET WEDDING OF BEAUTY

MRS. CHARLES T. EAGAN

Newton girl whose secret marriage five years ago was revealed by divorce suit. She is a prize-winning beauty and often vowed to her friends that she would never marry. No one knew of her marriage until the divorce was announced.

NEWTON GIRL'S ROMANCE IS SHATTERED

Edith Harrington of Newton, a Beauty Contest winner, has been married and divorced, it was learned today.

The girl who received a bushel basket of proposals and who swore that she would never marry, finally succumbed to the arrow of Dan Cupid. But the secret marriage was not a success. It was dissolved in Middlesex County Divorce Court Wednesday.

The news of the marriage and divorce came as a double surprise to the friends of the Newton beauty.

With the exception of her mother and a few intimate friends, no one knew she had broken her vow to always remain single.

According to the records at Boston City Hall Miss Harrington was married July 31, 1920, to Charles T. Eagan, a vocational training student at the Bryant and Stratton business school.

They were married by the Rev. John F. Moses, rector of Trinity Church.

The divorce, which was uncontested, was granted on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment. The alleged cruelty occurred in Plymouth County September 4, 1922, "and at other times and places."

Mrs. Eagan refused to discuss her blighted romance today.

CONVICTS MAN IN SOUTH END ROW

John J. McLaughlin of Rutland square, South End, was found guilty by a jury before Judge Lawton today of assault with a dangerous weapon and attempt to kill Francis Baggott, an ol dfriend, in a quarrel following a drinking bout. McLaughlin testified Babbott brought a woman friend and a quantity of liquor to McLaughlin's home one night last October. Late in the night he found Baggott attempting an assault on McLaughlin's wife. During the fight that followed McLaughlin stashed Bargott with a knife.

SUN YAT SEN'S ARMY IN CHAOS AT CANTON

Canton, Jan. 18 (By the Associated Press).—The southern capital, full of victorious troops, Generals and lesser officials, who entered yesterday after fighting across a province in the interests of Sun Yat-Sen, deposed President of the South China Republic, who is in Shanghai, was today without a governmental head.

While there were scores of potential leaders, no one man had general control and the situation had developed into one of confusion.

JAMAICA PLAIN PATROLMAN IS SUSPENDED

Patrolman George F. Bergeron, who figured in the hearing of Dr. Arthur E. Brides of the Veterans' Bureau, has been suspended by Superintendent Michael H. Crowley. Bergeron's suspension followed his attempts to gain the release of a companion arrested for driving an automobile while drunk.

Patrolman G. F. Bergeron.

This man, William R. Porter of Centre street, Jamaica Plain, was in Roxbury Court on a drunkenness charge today and his case was continued a week.

Bergeron was riding with his friend in Jamaica Plain when the automobile narrowly missed striking a street car. Patrolman Fisher arrested Bergeron's companion. Bergeron went to a telephone and pleaded for his friend's release.

Lieutenant O'Neil told Bergeron to report to the Heaverns avenue station, which he did. The patrolman was suspended when, according to police reports, his actions indicated he had been drinking.

At the Dr. Brides hearing Bergeron testified that Dr. Brides was drunk in a government automobile with two women in Jamaica Plain April 22, 1922.

FEAR MISSING KLAN WITNESS SLAIN

Court House Bastrop, La., Jan. 19.—A new theory that Harold L. Teegerstrom, missing government witness, has been murdered, was projected into the "hooded mob" investigation of Morehouse Parish today during examination of Henry Jones, a farmer of Spyker and close friend of the missing youth.

Plans of State prosecutors to identify more members of the mob were dropped temporarily when Jones revealed that the missing youth's watch and a bundle of his clothes, left at Jones' home, had mysteriously disappeared. Jones claimed the clothes were obtained by Teegerstrom when the latter made a fleeting visit to Morehouse Parish.

London—The German embassy denies an official German mission is coming to ask Great Britain to intervene in the Rhineland. It was admitted industrialists and coal mine owners might come.

CRIES LEAD TO RESCUE OF FAMILY

Her cries awoke her uncle, who found five members of his family unconscious from illuminating gas.

Arousing them from their coma he went to spread the alarm to four others as the victims followed.

A short distance from their rooms they collapsed in the hallways and would have died but for John Brodericks, a lodger, who carried two women and the child to the roof and spurred a man and boy to their feet.

George Santo and his wife Helen and daughter Hilda slept in one room on the top floor of the building at No. 376 North street, North End. His brother John and his wife Mary occupied the adjoining chamber.

Early today little Hilda began crying. John, a light sleeper, awoke to discover gas. He aroused his wife and then went to his brother's room, where all three were overcome.

After getting them started to street he went to where he awoke

ESCAPE FIRE IN BARE FEET AND NIGHTIES

Keene, N. H., Jan. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Barrus and two roomers, Miss Mary Holmes of Chesham, a high school girl, and Raymond Bourey of Proctorsville, Vt., were driven from their home in night clothes and barefooted, when fire gutted the Barrus house. Mrs. John M. Sewall, a neighbor, discovered the fire and awakened the occupants of the house and assisted Mr. and Mrs. Barrus, an elderly couple, to her home.

DR. EUGENE HOWARD DIES IN PITTSFIELD

Pittsfield, Jan. 19.—Dr. Eugene H. Howard, fifty, a prominent Pittsfield physician, died this morning of a paralytic shock sustained Wednesday night. He was a graduate of Holy Cross College, class of '94, and Harvard Medical School, '98. Rev. James Howard, Worcester, is a brother.

Town of Otis Cut Off From World by Snow

Otis, Mass., Jan. 19.—This town is snowbound today. Huge snow drifts, some more than twenty feet deep, block the highways. All efforts to break out the roads have failed. Residents are unable to leave, except on snowshoes.

RUHR FAMISHED, CAPITOL HEARS

Washington, Jan. 19 (By the Associated Press).—Economic aspects of the French occupation of the Ruhr valley are attracting increasing attention here, and the view is held in some official quarters that the economic problem now confronting the French is nothing less than a question of how to prevent starvation among the several million of inhabitants of the valley.

Official despatches indicate that a food shortage of serious proportions became evident immediately after the French military authorities moved in and declare that real suffering now exists in many places. Normal food supplies in the Ruhr, it is said, have seldom exceeded stocks for one week.

Reports of possible mediation between the allies and Germany by the League of Nations were discounted in Paris, where it is said the French feel they cannot consent to such a step until the results of the occupation become apparent.

NEW AID THWARTS SUICIDE

Shaeffer Resuscitation Prevents South End Man's Plan to End Life

The Shaeffer method of resuscitation from gas asphyxia tion adopted by the Boston Police Department, was successful today when used for the first time in saving the life of Willard R. Glover, who attempted suicide in his room at No. 23 Pelham street, South End.

Dennis Desmond, veteran patrolman of the East Dedham street station, answered the emergency call and applied the new method. This consists of laying the victim on his face and punching the gas out of his lungs by means of blows in the short ribs. Glover revived and was taken to the City Hospital. He will probably suffer no ill effects.

Glover has been separated from his wife for some time and yesterday was told that he would be needed no more when he finished his days work shoveling snow for the city. "Everybody tells me I'm too small," he told his landlord.

"Kittie—I wish to have you know that what I've done is what you drove me to. And what I pray is the curse of God will always follow you!" WILLARD R. GLOVER."

Governor Pinchot Cuts Own Salary $8,000 a Year

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 19.—Governor Pinchot, in a formal statement announced the budget would contain a salary of $10,000 a year for the Governor for two years instead of $18,000 allowed by law, but that if the State had enough money to pay its bills two years hence he would accept for the ensuing biennium the full salary.

The Governor said he felt he would be earning every cent, but that this was no time to raise salaries.

The last Legislature increased the Governor's pay from $10,000 to $18,000 a year.

WIN FIGHT FOR LIVES BY INCHES

Daring Deed In $100,000 Alston Blaze Which Destroyed Store

Four firemen bet their live today and won by inches.

They gambled their all on a flame-seared floor that quivered and creaked and finally crashed as they leaped to safety.

A two-alarm fire raged in the one story brick block at Nos. 143-145 Harvard avenue, Allston, causing loss of more than $100,000.

A gas pipe burst with the falling of debris and there came an explosion and spurts of blue flame met with it danger of more explosions.

Into District Chief Dewitt Lane, who retires on a pension today, roared a command to find the shut off, if possible.

Four volunteers pressed forward. Hosemen playing lines through adjoining windows shrieked warning, but the intrepid four went ahead. A minister wrenching sort of nose gave warning and all raced for the door. They made it.

Suits, Overcoats & Ulsters

Made to Retail at

$30, $35, $40 & $45

This price is so absolutely out of all proportion to the value of these clothes that you will be astounded when you see them! Don't let anything interfere with your getting in on this wonderful opportunity!

Consider the Price--$20--and Weigh These Facts:

Woolens have gone up from 25% to 40%. Labor costs more. Linings, canvas, buttons, sewing silks and findings are much higher priced than last year. THESE GARMENTS COULD NOT BE MADE TODAY FOR LESS THAN 50% MORE THAN OUR SALE PRICE!

The Reason for This Offer:

As everyone knows, the Fall season was the mildest known in years. No really seasonable weather prevailed until January 1st. This had a depressing effect on the wholesale clothing market. Surplus stocks mounted up while business lagged. Then came our chance. When stocks were offered at sensational sacrifices we were able to make the most of our opportunities. Our huge outlet, through our chain of stores, and our capacity to absorb large quantities of merchandise, enabled us to grasp this opportunity for our customers. DON'T MISS IT!

Unlimited Varieties! It embraces every favored model, fabric, pattern and color. Absolutely nothing that is desirable is missing. Sizes for men and young men—regular, short, tall, slender and stout models.

MITCHELL WINS POINT IN POOR DEBTOR COURT

A plea for abatement filed by Attorney Frederick M. J. Sheehan for Max Mitchell, former president of the Cosmopolitan Trust Co., of poor debtor proceedings brought by Morris Rabinowitz was sustained today by Judge Sullivan in municipal court. A similar proceeding is pending in Charlestown court. The defence argued that the creditor should not press claims i ntwo courts at once, while counsel for the plaintiff said he could proceed on six different clauses of the law relating to poor debtors in as many district courts.

The judge ruled it was an abuse of process and that the original litigation must stand alone.

ICE-MINT

THE NEW DISCOVERY ENDS ALL Foot Troubles

This new discovery, made from a Japanese product, is certainly a wonder. The way it draws out inflammation from a pair of swollen, burning, aching feet. It takes the soreness right out, then the corn or callous shrivels and lifts off.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful. Just think! Not one bit of pain while applying Ice-mint or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

You will never have to cut a corn again and run the risk of blood poison. Say good-by to your old corn salve, plaster and bunding tape for that pac corn of yours is sure to be a "goner" if it ever feels the magic touch of Ice-mint.

It imparts such a delightful soothing, cooling feeling to the feet that you will sigh with relief.

Ice-mint is the real Japanese secret for fine, healthy little feet. It prevents foot odors and keeps them sweet and comfortable. It is greatly appreciated by women who wear high heel shoes.

Just ask in any drug store for a little ice-mint and give your poor, suffering, tired, swollen feet the treat of their lives. It costs little and there is nothing better.

OLD-FASHIONED CAKES A CURE FOR DIVORCES

Cakes baked in the good old-fashioned way, with lots of real cream, fresh eggs, and dairy butter—cakes that uphold the traditions of New England grandmothers—are a partial solution of the divorce evil.

So declared Mrs. George U. Crocker of Rhode Island, president of the New England branch of the Farm and Garden Association, at the fifth Massachusetts Agricultural Convention in Horticultural Hall today.

Mrs. Crocker asserted:

"Alum and egg powder are the causes of many divorces. Country wives seldom seek the divorce court."

BOOMS COMMUNITY LIFE.

Mrs. Crocked was urging the promotion of "community life by community foeding" through city wives and country wives helping each other, with the city wife buying the product of her country sister's oven and the rural housewife getting the advantage of extra money.

The speaker called attention to "The Green Door" on Boylston street, to which the country housewife sends her cakes, her cookies and other delicacies and where the city wife buys. Thus far this has been a fairly successful experiment and Mrs. Crocker wishes to see the idea expand.

URGES BRITISH TO ACCEPT DEBT TERMS

London, Jan. 19.—(By International News Service Radio)—The Manchester Guardian, powerful Liberal newspaper, today called upon the government to accept the American terms for funding the British war debt.

"America does not ask more than we can pay," said the newspaper. "Acceptance of Washington's terms would heighten our credit, prove our sincerity and strengthen the ties of friendship between the two countries."

GERMAN SONG BAN DECLARED HARDSHIP

Essen, Jan. 19 (By The Associated Press).—The Franco-Belgian order forbidding the singing of "Deutschland Ueber Alles" or "Die Wacht am Rhein" under penalty of a fine of 200,000 marks or six months' imprisonment, is received with disgust. It promises to be a real hardship, for the pent-up feelings of the Ruhr workers have frequently found an outlet in these and other patriotic songs.

RADIO EDITOR SWAMPED BY 'WRINKLES'

Enough suggestions have been offered in the Boston American free vacuum tube contest so far this week to make a radio fan's paradise.

Among them is a hookup for an unusual receiver that uses no aerial whatever, which was sent in by John Greenwood of No. 8 Dracut street, Lawrence.

Mr. Greenwood says that he has received New York and stations even further south on this receiver, the coils of which he wound himself. The coil shown as L1 in the diagram was wound on the same tube as the stator of the variometer, the two sets of turns being about a half inch apart.

Grumble, grumble, growl. Coaxing voice: "But Tom, if I ring up Blank and ask him to send over some eggs, he'll charge more. And they won't be Brookside quality, either. And you do need a walk."

Grumble, grumble, growl. "Say Rosalie, that was a stunning hat you had on today. How come?"

"Ha! Ha!! Ha!!! (victorious wifey feeling her oats) —and do you know, Tom, I didn't charge it? Saved every cent from the allowance you give me for groceries."

"And just think, Tom, everything we need in butter, eggs, cheese, biscuits, tea, coffee, milk, cream, canned foods, groceries—well, they all come from the Brookside Store.

"I pick them out myself. I pay cash. I carry them home.

That's why the prices are so reasonable. And I really do enjoy the recreation of a daily walk to the corner."

"But Rosie, I . . . "

"Now run along, big man, if it were gold you'd . . . "YOU WIN! Here goes. Hats, suits, better eggs, better coffee, better groceries. NO MORE COST—

BEGS HER TO SEEK DIVORCE

Writes Polite Note Baring Her Love for Other Woman's Mate

By Cosmopolitan News Service.

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—The amenities of love as exemplified by a New York woman include the request for another woman's husband.

Acceding to the request, Mrs. Violet Louise McCracken of Los Angeles brought suit for divorce on the ground of desertion, and Supreme Court Justice Summerfield has the case under consideration.

Mrs. McCracken said she received the following letter from "Miss L. Liefoler" or "Loosler" and postmarked New York:

"My dear Madame McCracken:

"No doubt this letter will surprise you, but I want to ask so much of you that I do not know where to begin. I want you to help me and only you can do it.

"I know Chad is married to you but I believe you do not want him and that you do not love him. He and I love each other very dearly. Please give him a divorce or get one from him so that he and I may find the happiness we want.

"I am broken-hearted because we love each other very dearly and under the circumstances it makes things very hard for us.

"Don't think me a silly child, but please try to understand what it means to love and not be within the law. I am sure you will understand. Won't you please let us have happiness.

"Chad didn't want me to write, but just like a woman, I was forced to write and tell you all."

FATAL TRAIN CRASH LAID TO WATCHMAN

By International News Service.

Washington, Jan. 19.—An engine watchman, named Smith, was held responsible today by the Interstate Commerce Commission for a collision between a passenger train and a light engine on the Southern Pacific lines at Humble, Texas, on December 13, resulting in the death of twenty-two persons and the injury of eleven.

According to the report, Smith moved the engine left in his charge and in some manner, yet undetermined, it came out on the main track, where it was struck by the passenger train.

Welcome 'Freckles'

NEWSBOY HOSTS

HUB NEWSBOY HEROES GREET BOY FILM STAR

Wesley "Freckles" Barry, juvenile screen star, dropped in at the Newsboys' reading rooms, Bowdoin Square, to obtain a few pointers for his next picture depicting the life of a street urchin. Wesley was surprised at the wealth of material which the club boasts.

Greeting him at the door were several boys who have enacted in real life just the thing that Wesley is doing on the screen.

Mike Norton was the first to shake the hand of the screen idol. Mike is the thirteen-year-old Dorchester boy who gave the police the number of the automobile in which Alfred J. Bartlett was escaping after he had slain Frank E. Small, Dorchester druggist.

Next in line was fourteen-year-old James Hall, of Somerville, who gave the police the number of the bandits' automobile in the New England Baking Company holdup, Somerville. And then came Archangelo Marotta, a fourteen-year-old North End boy, who risked his life to warn a number of persons sleeping in a burning building in the North End.

The youthful screen star remained at the reading room for several hours, re-enacting the scenes of a few years ago at his own newsboys' club in Hollywood, California. Wesley was himself a newsboy before he was found by the film company which made him famous.

Committee Rules Town as Judge, Jury, Executioner

Harrison, Ark., Jan. 19.—A committee of twelve men from this and surrounding counties has taken complete charge of Harrison.

Backed by fifty others, who armed with shotguns, rifles and revolvers, execute the orders of this remarkable vigilante body, the committee has forced the town marshal and his deputies to resign, threatened to compel the Mayor to quit, ordered scores of union men and their sympathizers to leave the State and is openly conducting an inquisition before which all strangers must give an account of themselves.

With the avowed purpose of ridding this part of the State of striking railroad men and their friends, this committee, a law unto itself, is acting as prosecutor, judge, jury and executioner upon all who incur its displeasure.

It has compelled the wearing of a white ribbon by all who are loyal to it and, indeed, by all others who desire to remain unmolested while they are in Harrison.

As an immediate result of the committee's extraordinary methods, order prevails here for the time and there are fewer depredations by the striking employes of the Missouri & Northern Arkansas Railroad.

The committee boasts it has driven scores of residents of Harrison, including three merchants, out of town and that more are scheduled to go.

Armed scouts patrol all roads to Harrison and each new arrival is ordered to report at once to the committee before touching the buttons upon which he is bound. Even in the city every person not wearing the white ribbon is accosted by the armed guards.

After the lynching of E. C. Gregor, two men under arrest on suspicion of burning the trestle near Everton, confessed their guilt, according to the committee and were sentenced to serve from seven to ten years in the penitentiary.

Aside from the arrest of two suspects indicted on charges of arson and the announcement that a total of thirty indictments had been returned by the grand jury, no further development in the strike disorders was reported today.

"What the civil and court authorities were unable to handle in the past two years," the committee said today, "the citizens accomplished in two days' time."

REVERE MAN IS HELD FOR MURDER

Felix Jesualdo, of No. 379 Mountain avenue, Revere, arrested on January 7, charged with the murder of Antonio Cappulla, of No. 17 Bowdoin street, West End, was today held for the Grand Jury without bail by Judge Cutler in Chelsea District Court.

Samuel Buccuzzi, of No. 55 Revere street, Revere, who was arrested yesterday charged with being implicated in the murder, had his case continued to January 29. His wife, Lucretia, an important witness, is out on $500 bail.

Buccuzzi was brought back from Portland, Maine, where he was arrested after unsuccessfully trying to enter Canada. He was refused admission into Canada for lack of a passport.

Cappulla was stabbed to death with an ice pick at the home of Buccuzzi, it is alleged, over the attentions paid to the wife of one of the defendants.

ONE JULIET, BUT THERE WERE 2 ROMEOS

"Not robbery, merely a case of two Romeos and one Juliet, thus the quarrel."

That was Attorney Peter C. Borre's view of it to Judge Stone in Cambridge court today.

"I never heard of a Romeo who took a pocketbook when leaving his Juliet. He might take a kiss or two," observed Judge Stone.

So he held Frank J. Cooper of No. 234 West Newton street, and Karl D. Harrington of No. 51 Bishop street, Cambridge, for the Middlesex Grand Jury on charges of robbing Miss Mary Scott of her purse and one dollar. But he made the bail only $1 each.

On the night of January 8, Miss Scott was driven to her home on Highland avenue, Cambridge, in the car of James S. Bigsby of Wellesley Hills.

Goodnights were being said in this substitute for a balcony scene and Cooper and Harrington came up.

Bigsby told the court today that Harrington challenged him with: "What are you doing with my girl," then punched him. Whereupon Bibsby smote back.

Miss Scott said that there was a melee and somebody seized her purse and ran. She didn't know just exactly what occurred.

Monitor Builder Dies

Massachusetts Elks Join National War on Narcotics

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Elk lodges in all sections of the United States have joined in the national war on narcotics by passing resolutions calling on President Harding for an international conference and an anti-narcotic week. Among the pledges of aid received by Exalted Ruler William B. Rice of the Chicago Lodge are the following:

Adams, Newton, North Attleboro, Clinton and New Bedford, Mass.; Gloversville, Hoosic Falls and Salamanca, N. Y.; Norwich, Ct.; Bloomfield, New Brunswick and Bayonne, N. J.; Pawtucket, R. I.; Kenosha, Rhinelander and Antigo, Wis.; Cadillac and Petoskey, Mich.; Portsmouth, N. H.

DIRECTOR HELD IN DEATH OF GIRL DANCER

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 19.—Rogers U. B. Clark, motion picture director, who has been engaged in taking agricultural scenes along the coast of Mexico and sought in connection with the mysterious death near San Diego of Fritzi Mann, beautiful young dancer, was taken into custody here.

It developed at the inquest that the shapely body of the dancer when found was clad only in pink silk undergarments, silk stockings and pumps. Her torn dress and vanity case were found at widely separated points along the beach, as though thrown from a moving automobile.

He was picked up by a detective, who recognized him from a description sent out by the San Diego police. Clark, when taken to Central police station, admitted he knew Fritzi Mann, but said he knew nothing whatever about the circumstances of her death. He is about thirty years old.

Immediately on being brought to police station Clark was grilled with a view to clearing up the last hours of the unfortunate girl, whose body, partly disrobed, was found on the beach near Torrey Pines. In the car an expensive vehicle that Clark owned and was driving at the time of his arrest, Trainor found blood stains on the rear seat, he said.

A cottage was located by investigators at La Jolla where Miss Mann and a male escort stopped Sunday night. The cottage was rented to a man and woman who registered as W. Johnstone and wife, Los Angeles.

CHINESE BOY WINS LEGION ESSAY PRIZE

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—Ah Sing Ching, of Ewa Oahu, Hawaii, a fourteen-year-old Chinese boy, won first place in the American Legion's essay contest for American school children, on the subject, "How Can the American Legion Best Serve the Nation?" it was announced today.

Second prize was awarded Miss Pauline Virginia Chastain, of Indianapolis, and third to Joseph Giandonato, of Bridgeport, Ct. Honorable mention was paid Philip E. Mosely, Westfield, Mass.

MOVE FOR UNION OF ULSTER AND THE SOUTH

London, Jan. 19.—Lord Glenavy chairman of the Irish Free Stat Senate, has approached the govern ment of Northern Ireland with a view of effecting a union of the North and South, says a Belfast dispatch to the Central News.

The correspondent declares that ading Ulster citizens have received letters from prominent supporters of the Free State government urging the North to "come in," in the hope that the strife between the two factions might thereby be ended.

Opinion in Belfast inclines to the belief that the advances are not likely to bear fruit, the dispatch adds, the contention being that the troubles in the South centre around the question of a republic, rather than partition.

Dublin, Jan. 19.—A party of National troops was ambushed in Court street, it was officially announced today. Bombs were thrown, but no casualties resulted. Two of the assailants were captured.

A motor car carrying four Republicans was seized in a Dublin suburb after an exchange of shots. One of the Republicans was wounded.

Free State Considers Increasing Size of Army

By International News Service.

Dublin, Jan. 19.—This city quieted down today after a night of scattered fighting and raiding. Several Republicans were captured but no fatalities were reported. There was sniping. It is reported that the Free State cabin is considering the advisability of increasing the army to 35,000 men in view of the continued disorders and the menace of trouble by the Irish Fascisti.

"On behalf of the American government I express the sincere hope that the people of the Irish Free State, to whom long ties of affection and kinship bind the Americans, may enjoy the blessings of peace, prosperity and happiness."

A critical situation prevails in County Cork, where the Republicans have been joined by bands of raiders and by strikers. The local Free State commandants are having difficulty in moving troops owing to destruction of railway lines and signal systems.

HANNIGAN HAS RIVALS FOR BUREAU POST

The affairs at the United States Veterans' Bureau are somewhat up in the air pending the appointment of a director to fill the position held by Dr. Arthur S. Brides. It had been expected that Colonel John F. J. Herbert, appointed to act for Brides, would be named without opposition, but it now appears that Senator Lodge Judson Hannigan, has pledged his support to another and that there will be more or less controversy before the appointee is named.

Among those who are named as strong candidates is Judson Hannigan, but whether he has the indorsement of Senator Lodge is a question.

SECOND ARREST IN CIGAR STORE BREAK

John Solari, seventeen years old of Athelwold street, Dorchester, was in Municipal Court today, charged with theft of 110,000 cigarettes. He was arrested today by Special Officers Bresnahan and Lynch. According to the police, Solari is a "pal" of Frederick Hurley, who was arrested following a break in the Eastbrook & Eaton Cigar Store, No. 256 Washington street. Bole was held in $4,000.

TWO GIRLS HELD ON FUR THEFT CHARGE

Helen Nealon and Ethel Urail, both aged seventeen, of No. 45 James street, Quincy, were arraigned in Municipal Court today, charged with larceny of furs from the locker of a downtown department store. They were held in $1,000 each until January 26. In default of bail they were sent to the House of Good Shepherd. The coats were valued at $800.

You'll take a new delight in your phonograph

THERE are idle phonographs in thousands of homes, to-day, because of the noise of needle friction.

Other thousands patiently endure the ever-present scratch and scrape and try to overlook it.

Columbia's already famous discovery of a new and unbelievably quiet surface material for records has opened up a new epoch in phonograph pleasure. Now you may buy records of the music you most delight in—the well-loved ballads, arias from the famous operas, the lilt and swing of dance music, songs of the violin, the surging harmonies of great orchestras—all noticeably free from objectionable surface sounds.

All of the Columbia Records out to-day are made with this wonderfully quiet and pleasing new surface.

As an example, we cite the latest song hit, "You Gave Me Your Heart." In this tenor solo, sung by Edwin Dale, there's sentiment and setting, tunefulness and tenderness in all their beauty, unmarred by distracting scratch or scrape. "A Picture Without a Frame," the selection on the other side, is equally attractive.

Tear out this list and take it to a Columbia Dealer. Listen to any or all of these Columbia New Process Records. You, too, will acclaim them the smoothest, most quiet, most musical records you have ever heard.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Child's Hair With

USE MULSIFIED

If you want to keep your child's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, then moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

LED LITHUANIA IN FIGHT FOR INDEPENDENCE

"The Uncle Sam of Lithuania."

That is the title of affection bestowed on a Boston man who, while on a vacation to the land of his forefathers, organized a republican form of government in the district of Memel, Lithuania.

For "Uncle Sam" supplied money to finance the revolution, as well as his advice gained from nineteen years' experience as a citizen of the United States.

Anthony Ivas, aged thirty-six, of No. 1622 Columbia road, South Boston, went abroad in September, 1922, to visit his parents. As president of the Baltic States Financial Corporation he was keenly interested in economic affairs in Lithuania.

WINS TITLE "UNCLE SAM."

Then he made speeches, calling on the peasants to assert themselves and form their own government. The capture of the entire Memel district resulted. Money from Mr. Ivas' pocket was forthcoming to pay the bills. Independence was proclaimed.

In his modest home in South Boston waits his wife, Mrs. Anna Ivas, and their three children, Paul, aged five, Stanley, aged four, and Eldora, eleven months.

"I am proud of my husband," declared Mrs. Ivas to the Boston American today. "Naturally, I wish he were home again with us, but when I realize the good he is doing in the country in which he was born, I am content to wait until he feels that he can turn over the affairs of the new government and return.

PROUD OF HUSBAND.

"I have learned that he is called 'The Uncle Sam' of Lithuania by the natives. He was always charitably inclined and I knew, from the first, that he would not shirk the responsibility that he assumed.

"He has always taken keen interest in politics in this country, since he first came here nineteen years ago and he has given those people the benefit of his experience.

"The children are waiting for him, too. And when I told them he was called 'Uncle Sam' they began to call him by that name.

LIFE INSURANCE RECORD BROKEN

New York, Jan. 19.—A total $6,838,381,870 of new life insurance was done in 1922, an increase of 12 per cent. of the previous year, figures of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents showed today.

"All records in the history of life insurance will be broken in 1923 if the tremendous gain in new life insurance paid for during the last two months of 1922 is indicative of conditions that will prevail in 1923," said George T. Wight, manager of the association.

The figures were based on reports from forty member companies which have written 77 per cent. of the country's life insurance.

WANTS BAY STATE TO HEED ITS OWN ADVICE

"It is about time for the State to practice what it preaches," said Coleman E. Kelley of Dorchester to the Legislative Committee at State House today.

Kelley, advocating his bill to establish an emergency or first-aid room in the State House, continued:

"There is no place in this State where one of the thousands of employes or visitors could be properly treated if taken sick.

"Yet the State requires these first aid rooms to be maintained by private employers, who employ far less people in their establishments."

INQUEST ON DEATH COHASSET RECLUSE

An inquest into the death of Charles Litchfield, Cohasset recluse, will be held tomorrow at 10 o'clock at the Quincy court. Litchfield died at the home of Willie Whitcomb, Cohasset. The latter admits dealing Litchfield a fatal blow with a stone bed warmer following an all-night drinking bout. Whitcomb is as small in stature as Litchfield is large. Chief Barry of Cohasset announced that he has discovered a third member of the party, who will be produced at the inquest.

PLATT'S GRANDSON TO WED MISS LUSK

New York, Jan. 19.—The engagement of Miss Louise Lusk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Graham Lusk and great-granddaughter of the late Charles L. Tiffany, to Collier Platt, a grandson of the late Senator Thomas C. Platt, has been announced. No date has been fixed for the wedding. Miss Lusk, a member of the Junior League, was introduced to society a year ago. Mr. Platt is a graduate of Yale and Columbia Law School.

Elect W. T. Farley

W. T. Farley of this city was elected second vice-president of the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association at its convention in New York city. James Wilson is the newly-elected president. A prosperous year is predicted for the trade.

BOSTON MAN IS 'UNCLE SAM OF LITHUANIA'

ANTHONY IVAS.

South Boston resident, native of Lithuania, who led and financed fight for independence of his countrymen in Memel. He is president of the Baltic States Financial Corporation and conducted his successful fight for Lithuania while overseas on a business mission.

PROUD OF THEIR DADDY.

DESERTED HUB WIFE TRAPS HUSBAND

Springfield, Jan. 19.—When Jacob C. Elsner of Boston reached to embrace his wife in the Hotel Worthy here today, detectives burst into the room and arrested him on a charge of abandonment of his family.

Previously Mrs. Elsner had arranged for Springfield police to greet her on her arrival from Boston. She waved a white handkerchief as she alighted fro mthe train as a means of identification.

The arrest ended a widespread search for the missing husband. Once he was located in Texas, but quietly dropped from sight. His wife received a letter from him yesterday asking that she meet him at his hotel to discuss the future.

Elsner, according to the woman, left her and their baby about nine months ago. He was indicted by a Suffolk Grand Jury last August. He is an advertising agent and had nine trunks with him.

'TWAS A SWELL SCHEME UNTIL POLICE CAME

But Joe Fuliginiti, East Boston police say, put gas in an inner tube and thereby got illumination.

Joe, as the police tell it, has been out of work and unable to meet the monthly statement which the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. sends out.

Joe returned home and found the house dark. No gas. No meter. Company inspector had taken it out and shut off the gas.

But Joe somehow managed to connect an old automobile inner tube, the police continue, with the gas main at one end and his own house pipe at the other end and gas flowed again.

Joe was accused, in East Boston Court, of theft of 3,000 feet of gas from the company at $1.80 per thousand feet, or $5.40 worth in all. Also with fraudulent burning of gas and wasting it. He pleaded not guilty and comes up in continuance Monday.

GRAVES LIGHT CUT OFF BY TELEPHONE

The keeper of the Graves Light in Boston harbor has been cut off more than a week from the mainland by reason of the breaking of the telephone cable. Repair men are working under difficulties in locating and repairing the break.

13 HURT IN NIAGARA FALLS TRAIN CRASH

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Thirteen persons were injured here when a high-speed two-car train bound from Buffalo struck an Erie engine at a switch crossing. Six persons were taken to hospitals and seven went to their homes after getting first-aid treatment.

Now is the time to fight for better health with Bran---start to-day!

Don't give the diseases that follow in the track of constipation a chance to lodge in your system! Get after constipation with nature's greatest helper—BRAN. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and crumbled—because it is ALL BRAN and because it will give you permanent relief from constipation! It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation and it will do that.

Bran's action is wonderful. It sweeps and cleanses and purifies. It knocks out the dangerous toxic poisons and frees the system from pollution! Try Kellogg's Bran for a week. Eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls each day; as much each meal in chronic cases. You will be astounded at the difference in your feelings!

Kellogg's Bran should not be confused with common bran which is unpalatable and difficult to eat. Kellogg's is cooked and all ready to serve and really delicious. Eat it as a cereal, sprinkled over your favorite hot or cold cereal or cook or mix it with hot cereal. In the latter cases add two tablespoonfuls for each person.

Do you realize what Kellogg's Bran can do for you and for your family; do you realize that it will keep sickness away; that it will put every one on a new health footing; that it will free you all from pills and cathartics?

Kellogg's Bran is particularly delightful made in to raisin bread, in macaroons, popovers, muffins, etc. Recipes are printed on each package.

You will say that Kellogg's Bran is a blessing to humanity.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran!

ONE HEAD FOR THEATRES IF DEAL PANS OUT

Arch Selwyn, theatrical producer and owner of the Selwyn Theatre in Boston and a number of houses in other cities, says he is willing to enter the $50,000,000 corporation planned by the Erlanger-Shubert interests.

If the consolidation plans go through practically every first-class theatre in Boston will be under the one general management. Shubert theatres in Boston are: Opera House, Shubert, Plymouth, Wilbur and Majestic. Erlanger's Boston theatres are: Tremont, Colonial and Hollis Street.

Bankers and realty men expressed doubt that the deal, which has been under consideration for two years, could be effected.

FILM MAN'S LOVE SO INTENSE HE COULDN'T WORK

New York, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Genevieve Mulford, for years housekeeper in the Larchmont home of John H. Cromwell, New York realty dealer and lawyer, became his trump witness in his action for divorce.

Turning on her acknowledged former friend, she testified to meetings of Mrs. Rose B. Cromwell with Harry Cohn, film comedy director, of Los Angeles and New York.

The witness also identified letters and telegrams of burning devotion from Cohn to Mrs. Cromwell, many of which had been received in the care of Mrs. Mulford by arrangement.

As the letters and telegrams were read in court at White Plains, Mrs. Cromwell blushed at times, bit her lips in vexation, and shook her head.

"QUIT AND COME OUT."

In one letter Cohn wrote:

"I would go through—for you, and that, you know, is real love. I cannot give you up in my thoughts, which have been only of you, and have made it impossible for me to work as a director of comedies. Please quit it all and come out here with me."

In another letter, which it was testified he had sent in care of his brother, Jack Cohn, to whose office Mrs. Cromwell went for mail after a previous letter had fallen into her husband's hands, Cohn enclosed a check.

"It hurts me that you have not received my letter with the check. I signed it 'H,' and of course there will be no proof against anyone. I will always sign myself that way, because it would be an awful thing if he got hold of it—it would be goodby to you.

"About the money. How many times have I borrowed money to please and do things for you. The check was intended for that pin you said you wanted. I am sure leading a lonesome life. How wonderful it would be to have you with me.

CALLED HER SUSPICIOUS.

"You suspicious kid. You know I love you. I can't see how you can lead the life you live. Quit it now and come out here. I have a car and you can drive it. I'll come East for you if you say."

The letter which fell into Cromwell's hands, Mrs. Mulford said, failed to reach Mrs. Cromwell because of the carelessness of Justine Anderson, a negro maid. After that blunder, Mrs. Cromwell got a private mail box in the Larchmont postoffice.

Lynch, Cromwell's counsel, read into the record telegrams said to have been dispatched by Cohn to Mrs. Cromwell. One dated March 27, 1922, read:

"Dearest, you are driving me insane by your silence. Has your love for the last four years been such that you could give me up so easily? If there is left but a spark of that wonderful love, wire me."

Two days later, it was testified, Cohn again telegraphed:

"Dearest—Received wire. Will phone tonight. God bless you for your words of encouragement."

Under direct questioning by Lynch, Mrs. Mulford admitted connivance with Mrs. Cromwell in obtaining her husband's acquiescence to a trip to Los Angeles. Mrs. Mulford told Cromwell it was necessary for her to join relatives in California for a time, whereupon Mrs. Cromwell asked her husband:

"Cannot I go along, too?"

The witness said he replied:

"Certainly. Go, and stay twenty years."

They went. On arrival at a railroad station east of Los Angeles the witness testified, after Christmas, 1921, there came a knock on the door of their stateroom and Cohn was admitted.

Hyman Rushel, of counsel for Mrs. Cromwell, said that the defence would show proof of a "framework" between Cromwell and Mrs. Mulford.

Margaret Harding to Join Boston's Younger Society Set, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

WITH her striking good looks and charm, Miss Margaret Harding should make a noticeable addition to Boston's younger set when she comes here around the first of February to join her father, William P. G. Harding, former governor of the Federal Reserve Board in Washington. Mr. Harding, who is now head of the Federal Reserve Bank here, is staying at the Hotel Somerset, where he plans to remain until Spring.

At present Miss Harding is the guest of Miss Ailsa Mellon, daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury, at the latter's home in Washington. It was during Miss Harding's visit last Summer with the Mellons at Pride's Crossing—they occupied "Avalon," the Keith Merrill place—that she made a host of friends among the Boston colony along the North Shore. Her older sister, by the way, is Mrs. Freddy Prince, Jr. (Elizabeth Harding), who, with her polo-playing husband, is Wintering in Pau, France, with the Freddy Princes, Senior.

Another sister is little Mrs. Bob Pell (Alice Harding), whose marriage to the son of the Stephen Pells of New York was solemnized last September at St. John's Church, Beverly Farms. On this occasion, Margaret Harding served as maid of honor, while the Freddy Princes gave the wedding reception at their North Shore place. I remember what a picture the bride made in her quaint, old-fashioned wedding gown and soft lace cap and veil. She's just a slip of a girl, with soft blue eyes and blonde hair, tinged with red. She and her husband—he's very dark—were both just twenty years old at the time of the wedding. They sailed on their honeymoon abroad right away and now they are living in Paris, where, I understand, they are to remain from six months to a year longer.

Miss Margaret Harding is quite a bit taller than Mrs. Pell, and has darker hair.

MRS. ANDREW ROBESON of Boston was given a luncheon party the other day in New York at the Plaza by Mrs. John Howard Whitl of Santa Barbara, Cal., who is spending the Winter there. Among the guests was Mrs. Horatio Nelson Slater—once such a prominent figure in the Hub's social life—who, I believe, is soon to leave for a visit in the South. Among the other guests at the luncheon were the Duchess de Talleyrand, Mrs. Preston Pope Satterwhite, Mrs. George B. Dadmun and Lady Maitland.

IT was interesting to watch Mrs. S. Parker Bremer sitting the other night at the Opera House beside her eldest daughter, Miss Edith Bremer. Both mother and daughter were garbed in simple black velvet gowns, cut on the choicest of lines, and most becoming to their blonde type. The resemblance between mother and daughter was quite pronounced. It was at the much-talked-of Animated Advertising Adventure, at which Miss Bremer represented a well-known jewelry firm. After her part of the "show" was over, she came out front and joined her mother.

Speaking of the Bremers—the two younger daughters, Mabel and Ruth, are sailing soon for a trip around the world with their daddy, leaving behind Mrs. Bremer and lovely Edith, who is engaged to Harry Paxon.

THE George Barnards of "Riverbend Farm," Ipswich, who joined the Boston colony at Palm Beach a little while ago, were of those attending the opening of the new Danse de Mer there. There was a concert by the combined orchestras of the Breakers and the Poinciana, with the listeners seated in the galleries, promenading the loggia, or lounging about the swimming pool. Also in the assembly were the Honorable and Mrs. Archibald Lindsay, who have a place in Beverly Farms.

$12,000 AWARD TO TYPIST DISPUTED

Springfield, Jan. 19.—Controversy has arisen over the payment of a verdict of $12,000 to Miss Betty K. Mansur, a former stenographer, by A. Conrad Faber, son of the wealthy proprietor of the Oakes Hotel here who was found to have been responsible for the automobile accident in which Miss Mansur lost her hand.

Betty K. Mansur

She was returning home from a dance in Faber's car at the time. She claimed Faber had been drinking. As Faber's father, Patrick H. Faber, is owner of the car and had given his son permission to drive the car the night of the accident, it is claimed the money can be collected from the father. The father, however, maintains the machine was driven without his permission.

MISS MARGARET HARDING

Miss Margaret Harding, who comes from Washington in about a fortnight to join her father, William P. G. Harding, is a sister of Mrs. Freddy Prince, Jr., of Boston.

TO TELL SALARIES OF N. H. HEADS

New York, Jan. 19.—Motion for dismissal of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company's plea for a 20 per cent. increase in commutation rates between New York, New Rochelle and Mount Vernon, will be made next Tuesday, when the hearing before the Public Service Commission is resumed.

W. L. Barnet, counsel for the company, declared today that rather than have an item of $340,000 thrown out of the expense record presented at the hearing, he would furnish the names and positions of all railroad officials who receive more than $8,000 annually.

"I feel that the request of counsel for New Rochelle and Mount Vernon that I be compelled to bring the record was not made in good faith," said Barnett. "I believe Mr. Taylor and his associates wanted it for purely political and publicity purposes. We have nothing to conceal."

FOSS OUT AGAIN FOR G. O. P. CHAIRMANSHIP

SENATE TO ACT ON RESOLUTION AGAINST KLAN

Concurring with the House, the Massachusetts Senate is about to express its disapproval of the Ku Klux Klan.

A resolution denouncing the Klan in even more severe terms than the resolution adopted by the House, was presented in the upper branch today by Senator Wellington Wells of Boston, Republican floor leader.

His resolution says:

"Whereas, It has been reported that a secret organization known as the Ku Klux Klan is extending its activities to this Commonwealth, and

"Whereas, I thas been reported that this organization, contrary to the principles of democratic government, seeks to substitute the will of its members for the law of the land, and,

"Whereas, the people of Massachusetts are a law abiding people, having regard always for constituted authority, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the Senate of Massachusetts hereby expresses its firm opposition to any secret organization whose aims and activities are inimical to the rights and liberties guaranteed to our citizens by the Constitutions of the United States and of the Commonwealth, and be it further

"Resolved, that the Senate pledges itself to the maintenance of law and order and to the preservation of the constitutional rights and liberties of all its citizens."

TENNEY FIRM TAKES OVER BEVERLY GAS

Beverly, Jan. 19.—The Beverly Gas & Electric Co. has been purchased by the C. H. Tenney interests, which control various power plants in Essex County, it became known today, when it was learned that Andrews W. Rogers has retired.

MILD TODAY, BUT IT WILL BE COLDER

Get ready for another cold snap. Today's mild spell is just temporary relief. Although Boston awoke today to find a temperature of 38, the mercury is going down to 10 or 15 before midnight.

The weather forecaster is not dealing entirely in bad news, however. He predicts fair weather for the next few days, with moderate winds from the south and southwest. The temperatures will remain "seasonable," he says, which means fairly Wintry.

ONE hundred thousand booklets explaining the "what" and the "why" of War Department surplus are ready for free distribution.

The War Department wants you to know there are a host of bargains to be offered the public in the coming months; and it wants to be sure you know how to get your full share of the benefits for buyers in all War Department sales.

It explains just how sales are conducted—how simple a matter it is to buy from the War Department, and it gives a clear idea of the wide range of commodities remaining to be sold.

Many sales will be held in the next few months. A partial schedule is given herewith.

Ask your stenographer to send for your copy of the booklet. Address Major J. I. Frink, Chief, Sales Promotion Section, Room 2515, Munitions Building, Washington, D. C.

NOTE: 25,000 tons SODIUM NITRATE, stored at Jacksonville, Tenn., will be sold by sealed bids to be opened at noon, January 26, by Phila. Dist. Ordnance Salvage Board, Room 103, No. 39 Whitehall St., New York City, where proposal blanks are ready now.

RUMAN PRINCE TO DIVORCE PRINCESS

Paris, Jan. 19.—According to advices from Bucharest, Crown Prince Charles of Rumania is about to apply for a divorce from Princess Helen. The Princess is with her mother, the former Queen of Greece, at Palermo, Sicily. A report was in circulation last month that the royal pair were estranged, but it was denied by the Rumanian Legation in Washington. The report then was to the effect that the Crown Prince had renounced his claim to the throne, had left his wife and had returned to his morganatic wife.

SIR BASIL MISSES PURSE; MAID FINDS IT

Newport News, Va., Jan. 19.—A hotel clerk here today held the solution of a mystery presented to him by Sir Basil Thomson, former Chief of Scotland Yard.

"I tell you, sir," exclaimed Sir Basil as he hastened for his train, "my pocketbook is gone; and I tell you there hasn't been a soul in my room but myself."

BROWN GIVEN TRUST FUND FOR CHEMISTRY

Providence, R. I., Jan. 19.—President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown University announced today that a trust fund of approximately $3,800 had been contributed by friends of John Howard Appleton, professor emeritus of chemistry at Brown. Its purpose is to provide annual lectures at Brown on pure or applied chemistry. Professor Appleton after fifty years' service on the Brown faculty retired from active teaching in 1914. He is a member of the Brown class of 1863 and his three sons and three daughters also are Brown graduates.

BOYS VISION WEALTH FROM RAT BOUNTY

With a bounty of 10 cents offered by Weymouth business men for every rat killed on their premises, Boy Scouts and just plain kids are busy trying to decide whether they will purchase an automobile or a house with their share of the earnings.

According to the statements made by several large manufacturers, the rats are destroying hundred of dollars' worth of property every week. Men have been employed every night for weeks under orders to kill all the rats they see.

The Boy Scouts have offered to take over the task of exterminating the pests.

M. A. Bigelow Editor

"Jungle Law," by I. A. R. Wylie, deals, not with animals, but with humans—with their passions, pride, love, ambition—all more ruthless than the blood lust of the forest.

I. A. R. Wylie

has written an exquisitely moving love-story. Read it tonight.

James Oliver Curwood and Gene Stratton-Porter

"The Alaskan", by James Oliver Curwood—the story of Alan Holt and Mary Standish, their romance, and the great political and financial intrigue surrounding them. Its dramatic climax excels Curwood at his best.

"Euphorbia", by Gene Stratton-Porter—an unforgettable picture of the suffering of the mis-mated. Nearly ten million copies of Gene Stratton-Porter's books have been sold. This is the first of her works to be serialized. Read these stories tonight.

Is there a change in morals?

90 P. C. CITIZENS BUY RUM, SCHARTON SAYS

It is crime to buy liquor from a bootlegger and, furthermore, 90 per cent. of the citizens are doing it, so declared Attorney William H. Scharton today in Roxbury Court, when William E. Daugherty, a contractor of Ziegler street, Roxbury, was tried on charges of keeping and exposing. Police found a quantity of liquor stored in a barrel in his coal bin. Scharton said it was there for private consumption. Daugherty was acquitted.

WORKMEN OF LAWRENCE ASK DEEP WATERWAY

Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' Union of Lawrence has adopted resolutions endorsing the Merrimack River improvement plan of a deep waterway from Lowell to the sea. The preamble emphasizes necessity of proper freight facilities for Lawrence, Lowell and Haverhill mill and factory hands, present "inadequate, uncertain and unsatisfactory" rail transportation for freight, and the failure of Federal financial aid to establish efficient rail service. Appreciation is expressed of the business men's committee of the river cities and its chairman, Andrew H. Sutherlands.

$60,000 NURSE LOSES A SUIT FOR MILLION

New York, Jan. 19.—Feminine friendship is not worth $1,000,000, in fact, it isn't worth a cent, even when given platonically and professionally to a banker of fifty-seven years, by an exceptionally attractive woman, about half his age.

Supreme Court Justice Wasserveigel made that quite clear when he dismissed a $1,000,000 suit brought by Carolyn Connors, a nurse, against Isaac Haines Dickinson for alleged breach of contract.

Justice Wasserveigel would not even let the case go to the jury, to the great disappointment of Miss Connors.

FROM CITY TO CITY.

Miss Connors said it was fifteen years ago when she met Dickinson, who is president of the Farmers' National Bank in Quarryville, Pa., and whose wealth she estimated at $34,000,000. She was a nurse in the Easton Hospital then and he was a patient. So kindly did she care for him that their acquaintance developed into friendship and he followed her, she said, from city to city.

The banker developed neurasthenia. She massaged him twice daily for months at a time, she explained. He was married, the witness conceded, and she knew it. Did they travel together? Oh, yes, the nurse nodded.

Then Henry W. Jessop, counsel for the defendant, asked if they had not registered as husband and wife.

They might have, the witness agreed, but that would be because Mr. Dickinson always registered for her.

IN NEW YORK SUITE.

It was in a suite in a New York hotel in 1912 that the contract was made, and in this manner, Miss Connors said:

"Mr. Dickinson said that if I would do whatever he asked me to do for five years, he would give me $1,000,000 at the end of five years."

Jessop, attorney for the banker, asserted that Dickinson had been paying $1,000 a month to the young woman for her services, or $60,000 during the contractual period, and she responded, crisply:

"Oh, but that was quite aside from the $1,000,000. The money he gave me was for my support and maintenance."

Mr. Jessop moved for the dismissal of the suit and it was granted.

One of the Greatest Medical Successes Ever Known

THOUSANDS EVERYWHERE ARE BUYING AND PRAISING

MENTHO-LAXENE

For Coughs and Colds

Mentho-Laxene is needed in every family.

Every family can afford to save Three Dollars on Cough Medicine—

Mentho-Laxene is highly concentrated, pure medicines, and mixed at home—with sugar syrup, or strained honey, makes a great big Full Pint of Cough Syrup—the most pleasant, most efficient, most prompt that can be obtained.

Quick Relief Experienced Surprises Everybody

The very first dose relieves; and repeated, it soothes, penetrates, and heals, with volatile vapors, the tender, inflamed and "raw" mucus membrane of the nostrils, throat, bronchial tubes and delicate air passages, while the laxative, purifying antiseptic qualities enter the system through the stomach, bowels and blood, and loosen up the phlegm secretions, and drive from the body the foul corruption and waste matters that clog the system, whenever you catch cold. This DOUBLE ACTION MEDICINE goes right to the root of the trouble. It not only checks a cold, it not only is the quickest acting, best cough syrup—but it is a system cleanser and tonic—laxative—and that is why it has so many loyal patrons and grateful friends.

Mentho-Laxene eliminates the conditions that permit colds, distressing, painful coughs, disgusting catarrh, with its attendant headache, hoarseness, tickling in throat, clogged nostrils, and other mild, but unhealthy symptoms of congestion. Mentho-Laxene has a "double action"—for it relieves congestion of colds and aids in elimination of destructive toxins from the system.

Non-tubercular people who have endured chronic bronchial coughs for years, and who have tried "this, that and the other remedy" in vain, have received benefits from Mentho-Laxene in a few days and have fully regained their normal condition after a few weeks' use of this fine, quick acting, pure medicine.

BE KIND TO YOURSELF—by reading the testimony of grateful citizens. Be kind and good to your children by learning what other mothers and fathers have learned—that Mentho-Laxene has saved their little ones from suffering, and perhaps from croup, fever, pneumonia and chronic lung trouble. Every letter published is voluntary—and not a cent has ever been paid for a single one. They are the outpourings of grateful hearts, charitable hearts, too, because they want others to get the help and health that they have gotten through Mentho-Laxene.

REWARD—The Blackburn Products Co. hereby offer a Reward of $1000 if every letter published is not the genuine unsolicited expression of the users of their medicine, given without pay of any kind.

Warmly Praise Mentho-Laxene

Gentlemen: It gives me extreme pleasure to write and inform you of the wonderful results I derived from using your Mentho-Laxene. I am a man over fifty years of age (millwright by trade), and have tried scores of cough and cold medicines, and, to be honest, I think some of them did help me somewhat after taking for a week or more, but never did I get anything in accordance with the quick and efficient cure I derived from taking less than one bottle of Mentho-Laxene. I was troubled with a very distressed cold in my head, throat and nose, also a slight hoarseness, combined with a splitting headache. My nose would run continually. I was on the verge of collapse, when about this time I read in the Boston Traveler where Dr. Lewis Ruley recommended Mentho-Laxene for colds. who was completely "run-down" from colds, and something seemed to tell me that it was just what I needed in my case. I purchased a bottle and made a syrup according to directions. At the end of one day I was relieved of nose and throat trouble and my headache was gone, and after using for 48 hours I ceased taking it, being completely cured, and have had no trouble since then. I can truthfully say that I consider Mentho-Laxene the wonderful and quick relief remedy for a cold, cough or "run-down" conditions that I have ever known. I would most heartily recommend it to anyone suffering with bronchitis. I have had testimonials for the last 23 years and have taken "tons" of medicine of every description, but never had any relief of note. My wife has also taken it for colds, and can praise it highly to anyone. I want to say that those few words Mentho-Laxene mean every time. When I used to lie down at night I would smother and cough enough to cough out now when I take Mentho-Laxene I am asleep and never cough. For those who have any asthma, I believe in telling people know of a good remedy for their afflictions, so far as I am concerned, you can use this testimonial, and you or anywhere you care to. Yours sincerely, Fred Merkins, 427 Chestnut Ave., Boston, Mass.

Another Boston Man Got "Wonderful Results From Mentho-Laxene," Says: "Good Safe Cough Medicine."

Dear Sirs: I have used your Mentho-Laxene for the last five years for coughs, colds and bronchitis, which I had suffered greatly from and I found that by taking a few doses of your medicine I was completely relieved.

I am a young man, 35 years old, working as a shipper. I read about your cough syrup in a daily newspaper one day, so thought I would give Mentho-Laxene a trial for colds, coughs and bronchitis, and I received wonderful results. I would not be without a bottle on the shelf of our medicine cabinet. I speak highly of its good work to all of my friends, and am only too glad to recommend your Mentho-Laxene to any person who may be in need of a good safe cough medicine. I remain, yours truly, Worcester Woman Rejoices—Mentho-Laxene Relieves Bronchial Asthma. Niece, Nephew and the Children All Use It.

Dear Sirs: Just a line to say I think Mentho-Laxene is a splendid cough medicine. My aunt had a very severe attack of bronchial asthma. I made up a bottle of cough syrup and it helped her wonderfully. Whenever she felt the tickling sensation in her throat, she would take a teaspoonful and it never failed to give relief.

My niece and nephew have used it all winter whenever they felt a cough. The children just love it. It has really given great results, and we are never without it in the house. The minute it goes down the throat you feel the soothing effects.

We learned of it through a friend who always used it and thinks there is nothing like it. She has been using it for quite a few years. We have recommended it to quite a great number and given them a sample of it, and they all claim it a great medicine. Sincerely yours,

Jean F. Miller, 3 Bellevue St., Worcester, Mass.

Bostonian Praises Mentho-Laxene, Had Bronchitis for Twenty-Five Years.

Dear Sir: I have taken your Mentho-Laxene and have had wonderful results. It is the best medicine I have ever taken for bronchial trouble, and I will and can recommend it to anyone who is suffering with bronchitis. I have had bronchitis for the last 25 years and have taken "tons" of medicine of every description, but never had any relief of note. My wife has also taken it for colds, and can praise it highly to anyone. I want to say that those few words Mentho-Laxene mean every time. Mentho-Laxene Best for Colds

Mrs. W. H. Pinnion, West Medway, Mass., writes: "I purchased a bottle of Mentho-Laxene, and have now used two bottles and think it is the best of anything for colds."

Mrs. Dave C. Ivert Found Mentho-Laxene "Very Speedy In Healing Bronchial Tubes"

Also—"For My Babies in Croup, —It Certain'y Does Its Work. It is Absolutely the Golden Truth."

Gentlemen: "When I first learned of Mentho-Laxene through the advertisements by Dr. Baker in the Cincinnati Enquirer columns I procured a bottle for bronchial trouble, and found it very speedy in healing my throat and relieving my bronchial tubes. Then for coughing, I purchased it for my little girl who was subject to croup, and it certainly helped her.

"My little girl was taking a very severe cold lately. Now, my wife has also taken it Mentho-Laxene every hour in less than 24 hours. It was certainly wonderful how quick and the heaviness and soreness in throat relieved.

"It is such a relief in clearing up the throat and aiding in free breathing, which is so distressing with a severe cold. Hoping this will show you as with much goodwill, I am, for the benefit of it. It is absolutely the best for children. I am glad to have given this information to others. Yours respectfully, Mrs. Dave Calvert, Sparta, K

Jesse E. Payne, 57 Years of Age, States He Was "Surprised With the Quick Results" From Mentho-Laxene

"Coughs, Pains and Soreness in Chest" Gone in Less Than One Week.

"Am Now Feeling Fine Again"

Gentlemen:—I am a male, 57 years of age, bricklayer by occupation. I had a bad cough, with severe pains and soreness in my chest and felt very miserable. I was advised by a lady friend in the house to get a bottle of Mentho-Laxene and take according to directions. I tried one bottle of your good medicine and was surprised with the quick results. In less than one week my cough, pains and soreness in chest had all disappeared, and I am feeling fine again. I would not be without a bottle of it in the house and can heartily recommend it to all who are troubled with the above symptoms. You have my permission to publish my testimony in regard to your wonderful Mentho-Laxene. Yours respectfully, Jesse E. Pa ne, 2423 Judge Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

Carnegie Lady Says: "Most Promptly Effective Cough Medicine I Have Ever Known"

"I have been using your recipe for making cough syrup at home—Mentho-Laxene for a long time and have found it the best to be had any place as it never fails to stop the most obstinate cough. Anything I can do to get others to give it a trial I will do. I am never without it, and generally keep an extra bottle of the essence, as my friends come to me when they need it for. After I have given them a trial and they I especially like your Mentho-Laxene because of my enthusiasm Mr. Mayberry tells me is the best I ever used. Yours Free From Rheum.

"It is so clean, so effective as pleasant, and so far as I can tell, while it is free from mineral and narcotic ups, that it is an ideal syrup for children and adults of all ages. I will certainly be wishing you the best success in the sales of your most excellent Mentho-Laxene. I remain, very respectfully yours, Mrs. A. Mayberry, 1460 College St., Carnegie, Pa."

Mrs. F. P. Sickles—"Most Terrible Coughs—Gave Up in Despair

"In Two Days Cough Was Gone and in Two Weeks Was Completely Cured."

"About two years ago I was taken down with a terrible cold and it ran into pneumonia. After getting up I had a most terrible cough. I tried most everything in vain and gave up in despair, until a man from your state gave me a bottle of your Mentho-Laxene. In less than two days my cough was gone and in two weeks was completely cured. We have been telling your store to locate you. My daughter of the Brunsler Studios of this city, found your address at last, and have just received a consignment of the Mentho-Laxene, the BEST PREPARATION IN THE WORLD and may your days on earth be many and keep on with the good work—for ADVERTISE more! Get it before the people! You can use this testimonial and welcome, for if I can ever do anything to assist you to pay me let me know and I will appreciate it. Very truly yours, F. P. Sickles, 618 So. Iron, Centralia, Wash., Oct. 24, 1921.

Dear Sirs: The first dose of Mentho-Laxene gives my daughter gave her very great relief, so we have used it steadily from that time on. I have 12 children living. Three are married and two of them each have five children. They, too, now use Mentho-Laxene whenever they are attacked by colds or croups. It has saved all of us many a doctor's bill, and much suffering. Mrs. Lorenzo Kinser, 23 Green St., N. S., Pittsburg, Pa.

Mentho-Laxene is a highly concentrated essence. It can be taken in tea-drop doses as you buy it—or mixed with sugar syrup. A 2½-ounce bottle makes a full pint. Equal to 10 or 12 bottles of ordinary cough syrup. Has delicious flavor of wild cherry and menthol, contains no chloroform, opiates or harmful drugs. Full directions with each bottle. Buy it of your druggist today.

A Mother Writes: "If everybody could experience the benefits of Mentho-Laxene just once there would not be much of any other cough medicine sold."

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Bisurated Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no real, lasting effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and sour food right out of the body, neutralize the stomach, neutralize the acid and thus prevent its formation, and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

A. H. Erwin, Esq.,
Financial Advertising Manager,

Dear Sir:

There has long been a question in my mind concerning the desirability of using large rather than small copy for advertising. For many months we have been using small space in the Boston American with very good results. When you suggested the insertion of a quarter page advertisement—and in a special issue—at first I did not consider it advisable for two reasons.

In the first place I had a prejudice against the use of copy in a special issue. Secondly, I thought that it would be better to run more small advertisements than make a big splurge.

But the best test of an advertisement is its pulling power; and the best method of testing a theory is to experiment. You will be interested to learn that the quarter page advertisement of our booklet, "Theory and Practice of Security Buying," has since January 1 resulted in 1,200 requests, thirty-seven replies, and the inquiries are still coming in from that ad. at the rate of approximately twenty a day.

These queries have come to us from all parts of New England. The response from local territory was very good, and there have been a few scattering inquiries from New York, New Jersey and Philadelphia.

The experiment has been very successful. I am convinced that when one has something good to advertise, such, for example, as our booklet, which is very valuable to investors, it can best be distributed through the use of large rather than small copy.

Cordially yours,
J. W. Stallin

READY TO NAME KLAN SLAYERS IN MER ROUGE

Rastrop, La., Jan. 19.—(By the Associated Press.) — Attorney-General Coco today announced that he expected to establish the identity of the actual perpetrators of the Morehouse atrocities which culminated in the lynching August 24 of Watt Daniel and Thomas F. Richards. Nineteen witnesses, including one woman, had been summoned to testify at the hearing today.

Fred Eubanks, brother-in-law of E. [illegible] Grey, testified that Grey was a member of a hooded band he saw on the Mer Rouge-Bastrop highway near here the night of August 4. It was the first time the name of any man alleged to have participated in the masked band activities on that date, when Daniel Richards and several others were kidnaped, had been brought out.

The bodies of Daniel and Richards, cast into Lake La Fourche, were discovered December 22. Unidentified persons the night before had discharged heavy charges of dynamite in the water. The concussion caused the bodies to rise.

Hardie Rogers, identified as a member of the black-hooded band which kidnaped and lectured Richards August 17, admitted being a Klansman, but denied knowledge of the affair of August 24.

Klansmen Threaten to Blow Up Oil Tanks

Providence, R. I., Jan. 19.—A threat to blow up the gasoline and oil tanks of the Texas Oil Company on Sayles street, this city, signed "K. K. K." was received at the office of that company early this week.

Albert Cote, clerk in the office of the Texas Oil Company, which is in the rear of No. 191 Sayles street, said he stepped out about 10 o'clock Monday morning to empty his wastebasket in the river, nearby. Before leaving, he locked the door of the office, but did not fasten the door of the storeroom in the rear.

Cote says he was gone only a few minutes, and that on his return he saw a stranger slinking away. Going to the storeroom in the rear of the office, Cote found a piece of paper in the form of a pyramid on a barrel. Picking it up, he saw a large letter "K" on each corner and in the centre a warning which read "Carnoline unbearable; Tanks ideal spot for havoc." It was signed, "Woon. Klan 100 strong."

FABRIC BILL IS CALLED "FAKE" BY WOOL MEN

The Carded Woolen Manufacturers' Association whose headquarters are at No. [illegible] Summer street has forwarded to President Harding and Congress a protest against the Capper bill governing the labeling of woven woolen goods to show percentages of the different materials of which the goods are composed.

The protest emphasizes that the value of wool fabrics depends not on whether it is made of new or reclaimed wool, but on the quality, length and strength of the fibre, the condition of the fabric and the quality of workmanship.

The Capper bill terms of "virgin wool" and "reclaimed wool" are misleading, the statement says. Marks required by the Capper bill would, in opinion of the Association, mislead the buyer of wool clothing.

The bill is denounced as a "legislative fake and fraud that should itself be branded as a 'Falsehood in [illegible]'."

AID OF PUBLIC IN WAR ON GOUGING COAL PEDLARS URGED

ASKED TO REPORT PRICES

Fuel Administrators Seek to Curb Extortion by Dealers

War to the finish on coal pedlars who are reaping harvests because of the coal shortage by charging exorbitant prices has been declared by State and City Fuel Administrators.

Despite the activities of both of these the pedlars have succeeded in gilding defection, in many instances until it is too late to "pin the goods" on them.

ASK AID OF PUBLIC.

The co-operation of the public in informing the proper authorities of unscrupulous pedlars is sought, so that the practice may be checked.

One West End woman when asked to notify the authorities the next time she learned of unreasonable charges for coal said: "But if any of us complain, the pedlars will not give us any coal. I don't see why we should have to pay so much, but what can we do?"

It is this fear of being refused further coal that is keeping many people quiet and the pedlars realize their power.

Will Follow Suit. The city fathers are now busy trying to get better coal for the schools and other public buildings.

NAMES KEPT SECRET.

Assurance has been given by the fuel administrators that the name of any complainant against a coal pedlar will be kept secret, thus removing the possibility of "reprisals" on the part of the pedlar or any of his associates.

Even the city of Boston has suffered, or rather, the school children. Already one school, in Forest Hills, has been closed because of poor fuel and it is probable that other schools

$15 AT STATIONS.

In contrast to the exorbitant prices being charged for coal by pedlars in the West End, East Boston, Revere and other places, residents of the South End are congratulating themselves on being furnished with fuel by a Boston coal company at the price of $15, at the substations and $17 delivered.

Bids sober Brothers have opened three substations in the South End and the daily lineups at the stations prove that the action was welcomed.

Each day trucks of coal are taken out from the main yards of the company, in Roxbury, and distributed to the substations. Men are on duty loading up the huge and several small trucks are available for near by deliveries.

DENIES $21 CHARGE.

On Saturday of last week fifty eight tons of coal were sold from these stations.

J. Cronan, manager of the East Boston Coal Company, denied today that the price of $21 was charged to a customer on Sunday as was reported.

"I am willing to furnish, for inspection, triplicate copies of all sales on Sunday and I challenge anyone to prove that over $17 was charged."

APPEAL TO CONGRESS.

Residents of Natick have started the ball rolling for Congressional action in the coal question. A petition, signed by eighty-six residents, will be forwarded to Washington, seeking formal action by Congress.

Walter C. Day of No. 36 Summer street, Natick, is the leader in the movement.

"It is high time something was done," he said. "Here in Natick it is next to impossible to get coal without waiting for ten days or two weeks. In addition, we usually have to pay some contractor a dollar or two extra to deliver it."

Petition

TO the members of the Congress of the United States:

We respectfully petition you to take action to relieve the situation in various parts of the country, particularly in New England, which has resulted from the difficulty in obtaining coal, and to prevent the exportation of coal until the needs of the people of the United States are filled.

POLICE SPOIL VET'S WEDDING PLANS

True love never runs smooth. This ancient adage is vouched for by Ralph McPherson, of No. 93 Willow street, Lynn, a World War veteran. Mr. McPherson was acquitted in Salem Superior Court when arraigned on a charge of attacking a fifteen year old Saugus girl. McPherson then announced that he would claim the girl as his bride. But the police had the girl placed under arrest for being a stubborn child and sentenced to Lancaster Girls' School for an indefinite period. McPherson vows that he will marry the girl as soon as she is released.

CONFESSES TO DRUGGING AN AMERICAN

Berlin, Jan. 19 (By Associated Press).—The Englishman Jellis, arrested as a suspect in the mysterious death of Robert Nowak, a New York importer, is declared by the police to have made a full confession concerning the drugging of Nowak, who was found dead in his lodgings last Friday.

Jellis, who is said to have fled to Paris after the death of Nowak, returned to Berlin yesterday, only to fall into the clutches of the authorities while visiting a woman. His suspected accomplice, a man named Mueller, is still in Paris, according to the authorities, and his extradition has been demanded.

The confession told of putting a drug in Nowak's coffee in a West End Berlin cafe. The two men got Nowak to bed in a semiconscious condition, covered his face with pillows saturated with chloroform, robbed him of his American money and then fled to Paris.

"Shut up. Don't spoil the music."

Said official has to run to nearest store to telephone. Meanwhile fire gains great headway. Company stands heavy loss not yet estimated.

SHIP OFF HALIFAX RADIOS FOR AID

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 19.—The Norwegian steamer Capto, Marvik for Sydney, C. B., has lost her rudder and is drifting disabled off the coast of Newfoundland, radio messages received here reported.

The Furness liner Sachem, Liverpool for Boston, picked up a message from the Capto asking to be towed to port. The vessel gave her position as Latitude 50 45 north, Longitude 40 15 west. The Sachem went to her assistance.

NILAND GRABS COAL SAMPLES FOR MEETING

A sample of the 1,200 tons of hard coal stored in the State House bins, the property of a private corporation, will be on display at Former Representative Thomas A. Niland's coal protest meeting Sunday afternoon in Faneuil Hall.

The coal was bought from the State by the corporation which is installing oil burners at the capitol. Niland declares it should be offered to the public for sale. Fuel Administrator James J. Phelan replies that it is too big for domestic use.

At the risk of being arrested for larceny Niland went into the State House bins and selected several pieces at random. He will bring the coal to his protest meeting and let the people there decide whether he or Phelan is right.

Former President Raymond P. Delano of the Dorchester Board of Trade, accepting an invitation to speak at Niland's meeting, said: "I shall have something to say about the coal situation in Massachusetts and particularly about the so-called emergency fuel administrator and his committee, and my reason for resigning from same."

'CAVE MAN' PASTOR SLAPPED WIFE TO MAKE HER PIOUS

FLEW INTO RAGE OVER SUNDAY DINNERS

Drab Prejudices of Arlington Cleric and Flock Helped Kill Ex-Mate's Love

It never hurt the sensibilities of the Rev. Don Ivan Patch, pastor of Orthodox Congregational Church of Arlington, to "rise from prayer, take his devoted eyes down from Heaven" and slap his wife because she did not "go about in sanctimonious silence," according to Mrs. Egdeath Patch, who has just been granted a divorce from the clergyman.

Mrs. Patch said before leaving Boston with her young son to recuperate from the trial of her case that she was "spiritually mutilated by the narrow drab prejudices" of her husband and his congregation.

Once who had loved the pastor fervently, "He was a superb lover," she said, "delicate and poetic. I worshipped him."

A WONDERFUL ACTOR.

She wishes her children to respect and admire their father. But she says that they never could if they grew up with him.

"Perhaps if they know him by his splendid reputation they will be proud of him," she asserted.

As added sidelight on her domestic life, Mrs. Patch said:

"My husband has a brilliant mind and a charming personality. He is a wonderful actor. But, while the echoes of the benediction and the last hymns were ringing through the air, he would come into the dining room of the rectory and act like a sullen, ill-tempered child because he didn't like our Sunday dinner. His very voice was different when he talked to his family and when he addressed his parishioners."

RETAINS OWN RELIGION.

On her personal views of religion Mrs. Patch said:

"I have retained my religion in spite of everything. It is a religion of joy and beauty, music, color and laughter, not the depressing, smug bigotry that so many ministers and their congregations advocate."

Life as a minister's wife was bitterly reviewed thus:

"A minister's wife is married not only to her husband, who in most cases is a high-strung neurotic man, but to the congregation itself. The congregation is usually made up of women who have received so little joy and beauty from living that they throw all the ardor of their energy into church work

CRITICIZED ALL PLEASURE.

"My husband's congregation had a number of women who justify the drab hollowness of their lives by criticizing all things that are joyous and beautiful. They condemn all pleasure; they look askance at all other women who are not martyrs to dreary holiness," said Mrs Patch.

"He wanted me to forget all my friends and outside interests and merge myself into a dampening influence. He thought the petty societies of his congregation should satisfy all my cultural needs. I would have been willing to confine myself to them, but when I proposed anything that was interesting or pleasant, the other women drew down the corners of their mouths, whimpered insinuating criticism of me behind their knitting, and declared that I was trying to 'lead' them, and that my 'leading' had worldly taint."

MALDEN'S FIGHT ON ONE-MAN CARS LOST

The city of Malden today lost its long-fought battle to force the one-man cars of the Boston Elevated off its streets.

A decision approving the use of one-man cars to reduce fares and to provide service where the service would have to be abandoned if only two-man cars were permitted in use was made today by the State Department of Public Utilities.

The fight over transportation began when the Elevated refused to provide service unless Hart's jitneys were ordered off the streets. Hart was forced to abdicate and the Elevated then began to operate its abandoned lines, using one-man cars.

The city then petitioned the State to do away with them. The department said in its decision

"We feel that while one man cars are not as desirable as ordinary cars, they are often necessary if there is to be any street car service at all or if it is to be at a moderate rate of fare.

"We think that many of the evils complained of by the petitioners should be reduced substantially by the city's adopting traffic regulations which would tend to curb the unlimited use of the streets of Malden by automobiles for riding, and especially, for parking purposes, and that the other evils, of which they complain, will be dealt with by the public trustees of the Boston Elevated in a fair spirit and one calculated to give the citizens of Malden as good service at a reasonable price as the traffic justifies and with as little inconvenience as practicable."

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR SLEIGH VICTIM

St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, was filled at the solemn high mass for Frank Risteri, one of the two victims of the sleighing accident on Fellsway, Medford, last Sunday. A military funeral was accorded Risteri, who served overseas with the Coast Artillery. Members of the Francis G. Kane Post, American Legion; Post 498, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and James E. Hayes Council, Knights of Columbus, acted as pallbearers. A squad from the army base fired a salute at the grave, after taps was sounded, in St. Michael's Cemetery. The Gilchrist Company, where Risteri was employed, was represented by Superintendent James T. Chase, Mrs. A. L. Ward, store counsellor, and officers and directors of the employes' association. Risteri was twenty-five years old, unmarried, and lived at No. 31 Longfellow street, Dorchester.

State to Provide Grain for All to Feed Birds

Feed the birds.

Thousands of ground birds are starving, unable to peck their way through the snow to nature's tidbits on the ground.

Director William C. Adams of the State Division of Fisheries and Game said today he will supply grain to all requests.

The grain should be placed in sheltered locations with southern exposure. It is best to take care of pheasant and quail, he said. Such "non-useful" birds as the crow, bluejay, starling and English sparrow should be "shooed" away from the feeding places.

Adams said the services of fish and game clubs, boy and girl scouts, rural mail carriers and teamsters would be appreciated.

BOYS, 13, HELD FOR MANY BREAKS

They had several towels and cakes of soap.

"New York," they chorussed.

They explained that they planned an early start on the first morning train, hence the departure from home in darkness. But they had cigars, cigarettes, cake and candy in pockets.

At the police station they admitted, the police say, having entered Nicola Chiampa's store at No. 218 Sumner street; also having been in several of a score of breaks in small stores.

Later they were held on breaking entering and larceny charges for juvenile session of the court.

DOCTOR ARRESTED ON SERIOUS CHARGE

Dr. Philip Yorkais, twenty four years old, of No. 52 Lee street, Cambridge, was arrested by State Officer John F. Stokes and Captain John J. Cannay of the Cambridge police charged with attempting to perform an illegal operation. Earl Chambers, twenty years old, of No. 19 Perry street, Somerville, is held in $2,000 bail as an accessory before the fact, and on another serious charge. Yorkais secured bail.

MESSENGER IS HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $105

A man stepped out of the shadows of the West Medford depot of the Boston & Maine Railroad, pushed a revolver against the chest of Edward Blakely, twenty years old, an express messenger, of Arlington street, West Medford, and grabbed an envelope containing $105.

The robber chuckled, and declared "That was easy!"

Then he ran from the station down High street toward Arlington and escaped through backyards when Blakely and James Powers, the station agent, gave chase.

PASSENGERS UNAWARE.

The holdup occurred as the 5.40 inbound train was pulling into the station. It was undetected by more than a score of passengers who were preparing to board the train.

Blakely holds the government contract to carry mail from the station to the postoffice. He was confronted by the armed bandit just after he had received an envelope containing the day's receipts from the station agent.

FOR MAIL CAR.

The usual procedure of Blakley is to pass the envelope to the American Express messenger on the mail car of the train, who carries the receipts to Boston.

He was on his way along the station platform to the mail car at the rear of the train when he was held up. He returned to the station and informed Powers and they both gave chase. The bandit is described as twenty-five years old, thick set, wearing a brown hat and overcoat.

M'NARY'S CASE GOES TO SUPREME COURT

Judge Bishop of Superior Court today allowed the exceptions of Henry H. Chmielinski, former president of the Hanover Trust Co., and William S. McNary, treasurer of that institution, in contempt proceedings brought against the defendants by Attorney-General Allen for sending a letter to the Special Grand Jury which was investigating the affairs of the bank. Judge Bishop had found the defendants guilty, and fined each $250. This is the first time that exceptions in a contempt case have been sent to the Supreme Court.

11 MORE GET KLAN THREATS

Warnings Going to Woonsocket Citizens by Mail, Message and Telephone

Woonsocket, R. I., Jan 19 Eleven more Ku Klux letters were picked up in the first collection today from the letter box in front of the local postoffice.

These letters made a total of twenty six mailed here in the past forty-eight hours, in addition to Klux threats by telephone and two more by messages slipped under doors.

Today's batch was addressed mainly to local business houses including two coal companies, one operated by a French Catholic, the other by a high degree Mason.

THREATEN POSTAL HEAD

The local postmaster, Thomas F. Cavanaugh, was recipient of one of today's letters, which threatened to blow up him and his post office.

Police Chief Frederick E. Cox and Inspectors are investigating for the city, while postal inspectors are working on the case for the Federal government.

The letter to Postmaster Cavanaugh was in a plain envelope. The other ten were in red-banded envelopes sealed on the back with a wafer marked "K.K.K."

The letters were mailed under cover of darkness, between latest collection last night and first one today.

Postmaster Cavanaugh's letter addressed to "Woonsocket Postmaster," read:

"Warning—What if we get rid of you and your postoffice? What would you do then? Nothing. Your postoffice can easily be rid of. What if we sent a little package and at a certain hour it exploded and took you and your postoffice sky high. What could you do then? Nothing.

"K K K."

RECIPIENTS OF THREATS.

Another letter, addressed to "Lew [illegible] the Shoemaker, North Main street," read:

"We will get you —— Jews yet. We will make the penalty if we have to kill you. It will be easy to burn our store down in the night.

"K K K."

Recipients of the other nine letters today were:

Rep. Senator Patrick J. Cox (third warning)

Hand's Drug Store, operated by William Hand. Past Grand Knight of Knights of Columbus and brother of Lawrence Hand, who has had two warning messages.

The O'Donnell Drug Store

Woonsocket Hotel

Cailiz Jewelry Store

Home Coal Company, operated by Telephone Decorators

Holy Family Church, South Main street.

TRAINS ARE NEARLY ON TIME

New Haven Service Shows Remarkable Burst of Ambition All at Once

On a Friday at that

The first trains over from Broadway rolled up a collective lateness of only thirty-nine minutes, an average of slightly under ten minutes.

A Braintree commuter, whose 6:10 arrived on time, observed cheerfully, "No kick at all this morning."

Two immediate improvements were promised. One is an additional stop for Monday at Station in Quincy. The 8:16 train from East Milton to Boston will stop at Montclair beginning Monday.

The so-called workingman's train to Brockton weekly mornings is to make better time, according to official claim. In addition, Vice President A. P. Russell of the New Haven assured the Quincy committee of complaints that service will be back to normal in about six weeks, barring storms.

Danielson Reader Tells Antics of Boat Train

Up from Danielson, Ct., come some terrible words about the Worcester-New London Boat Train of the New Haven Railroad.

The Danielson correspondent of the Norwich Bulletin took his typewriter in both hands and pounded it a diatribe against what he calls that "amphibian" train. His editor ran the Philippic thus:

"Danielson, Jan. 19.—In its advancing years venerable boat train has developed strange habits. Now adds about like an asthmatic holiday junket. An old-time locomotive amphibian travels as leisurely on land—during the week, judging about it. Locomotive said to have ripe expansion engine and four screws—all lasses.

SMOKES AND CHEWS.

"Has been accused for months of suffering from arteria sclerosis and oiling of the back. Smokes and chews. Lies down on the job. Works about as well as the Volstead act under forced drought. Capable of fast knots an hour—all hard guessing on verge of making even record a record as a bashful amateur. Has developed faculty of taking advantage of its importance to upset daily plans and program of a multitude.

"Known going north as Milk Car Special, carrying out best products of eastern Connecticut herds to Boston market. Few seats reserved for passengers who can guess when to expect it and how far ahead to go.

"Called Frivolous Flyer going south. Due here just before 8 p. m., but has society custom of dallying into expectant crowds waiting for the evening mail and papers. Only three hours and thirty-five minutes late here Monday night, arriving New London following day. With proper progress of delinquency should next itself coming back about February seventh.

"Incorrupt rattler ambles along with easy froid of tramp steamer on bootleggers' schedule. Has no engagements not subject to breakage. Is studied with keen interest by investors. Regarded as one of the 1,211 reasons why stock is valued around 33 cents pound.

$10,000,000 Husband for Star

CONSTANCE FARBER

New York, Jan. 19.—Is Constance Farber, one of the Farber sisters of the stage, who less than fourteen months ago asserted she had sacrificed love for a career, about to exercise woman's prerogative of changing her mind and take a husband?

A report along the Rialto today said that within a week the actress will become the bride of Herbert H. Bower, president of the Alexander Hamilton Institute, No. 13 Astor place. He was divorced from Mrs. Helene De Bower in Chicago in 1918.

Another report was that the wealthy De Bower, who has a rating of $10,000,000, had presented to the young woman a mother a home, furnished complete, valued at $12,000.

STATE BUDGET, 1923, CALLS FOR $43,267,708

Governor Cox today sent his annual budget message to the Legislature, declaring that the cost of the [illegible] used by the State this year will be $400,000 in excess of the prices paid last year.

$11 PER QUESTIONED.

"The present price of coal," he said, "is nearly 30 per cent. higher than a year ago, which adds about $100,000 to the cost of maintenance of the institutions as compared with last year."

The State uses principally soft coal in all its institutions. A year ago the average price was about $7.25 a ton. It has jumped this year to an average price of about $10. The prices of the relatively small amounts of hard coal used by the State has taken a proportionate jump.

The biggest appropriations will be automatically as follows: For high ways, $4,000,000; public Health $1,497,000; education, $1,000,000; penal institutions, $1,145,000; mental Diseases, $2,000,000; public welfare, including the care of unfortunate state wards, $4,700,000.

He said the State institutions require additional housing facilities for 500 more inmates and patients.

Governor Cox said that by careful economy the State tax can be kept at its present figure—$12,000,000.

'WAS FREE BEFORE TRIAL'

Several on Jury Said to Have Decided to Liberate the "Financial Wizard"

The acquittal of Charles Ponzi, Boston's financial "wizard," was a miscarriage of justice, Philip C. Imbeschied of Roshindale, foreman of the jury which acquitted Ponzi a month ago, declared today.

Mr. Imbeschied said there were several men on the jury who had made up their minds to acquit Ponzi before the evidence was in and before the case even was tried.

Imbeschied backs up the statements in former Attorney General Allen's report to the Legislature and says that from his experience on the Ponzi jury the jury system as a whole needs correction.

After we had voted to acquit Ponzi I signed the verdict," said Imbeschied, "and as I gathered up my papers we were desperately tired after wrangling ten hours or more—I said 'this is a — outrage on the community.' I said so then and I think so now."

Mr. Imbeschied said four members of the jury, in finding himself, hung out for conviction of Ponzi until nearly midnight, and only voted for acquittal after one of the jurors whose father had died pleaded with him to end it up, and because Judge Fosdick had instructed them that because of the long time and great expense of the trial a disagreement would be most unfortunate.

He said the judge told them it would be proper for the minority to respect the wishes of the majority.

"I did not understand the importance of this case. I didn't realize the other important things involved. If I had understood them, I would have stood out for conviction to the end and they could never have swung me over."

Mr. Imbeschied blames the lawyers for a great part of the jury evil. He says they try to stimulate, not the jurors of simple intelligence so they can lose them in the large of evidence.

Call bars for jury fixers and conviction for bribed jurors, if any are found as a result of Allen's charges—is promised by state and county prosecutors, who have begun rigid investigation to learn the facts.

"Who fixed the jurors?"

"What jurors were fixed?"

If there is fire behind the black smoke current streaming in the wake of office-departing Mr. Allen, officials and the public are uniting in the demand it be put out.

MAY BE QUESTIONED.

Mr. Allen will be asked to give concrete instances of reports on which he bases his charges. He will be asked to produce the affidavits he says he has. He may be asked to name which of Daniel H. Coakley's law colleagues intimated to a juror, as Mr. Allen charges, that a "big bundle of money was available."

In few instances has there been such cowardly shielded a division of sentiment as has arisen from the wholesale condemnation by Mr. Allen of the jury system and Suffolk County juries specifically. The Mayor of Boston wastes no words in expressing his opinion that the charges, if true, are unprecedented. He bases his opinion on eighteen years of public dealing with juries.

HAD CRIME RECORD.

District Attorney O'Brien to the contrary, asserts that in his own personal knowledge and belief Mr. Allen's excoriation of Suffolk County juries is justified by facts. He cites as instances of the panel just drawn from names supplied by the Boston election commissioners, and advances the amazing information that four of these jurors have records of [illegible] time.

DUNDEE IS PICKED TO DEFEAT MARTIN

By JACK CONWAY.

Johnny Dundee, celebrated Scotch Wop, is in our midst once more. He is booked to parade punches in the direction of Pepper Martin's jaw in a ten-round bout to be staged under the direction of the Fenway A. A. at Mechanics Building tonight. While Dundee is hopping around the ring in his own inimitable way, Martin will attempt to find an opening for one of his hefty kayo wallops.

"Willie Jackson stopped Dundee, so why shouldn't I do likewise?" says Martin.

All of which merely causes the Scotch Wop to remark:

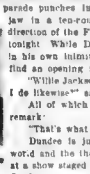
Johnny Dundee

Boston has been one of Dundee's lucky towns. He has been coming here for more than a decade, and has piled up victories enough in local rings to satisfy any seeker of glory.

Six years ago Dundee told the writer he intended to retire after one or two more bouts. He claimed he was getting old since that funny has conquered some of the greatest lightweights the game has known. They don't come any better than Dundee. Of course, there will eventually come a time when he will be pushed aside by some of our younger fighters, but for the time being Dundee appears to have something on most of the opposition.



Pepper Martin

* * *

Martin will bank his all on his hitting power. Pepper hasn't got a chance to win on points. He must knock out Dundee or lose. He will try to accomplish this spectacular feat by counting with hefty punches to the jaw.

* * *

It will be the second meeting between Dundee and Martin. When they battled last August at Brooklyn, Dundee won on points.

Martin recently lost to Jack Bernstein in New York, but he attributes this defeat to the lack of training. He has prepared for tonight's tussle and is confident he will give Dundee an interesting evening.

* * *

Billy Duffy of Everett will oppose Greek Algar in the semi-final of eight rounds. Frankie Ryan of Everett will clash with Billy Campbell of Worcester, while Nick Madonna of Lexington will try conclusions with Frankie Edwards.

* * *

Incidentally it is the first battle of Berlin of the Fenway A. A. in almost two years. This club has been reorganized and intends to be active from now on.

* * *

Matchmaker Alex McLean of the Armory A. A. is busy arranging a suitable card for next Tuesday night. It was originally planned to book Abe Friedman against Paddy Owens, but it has been necessary to cancel this mill as Friedman is not yet ready to start. McLean has several promising matches in view and may be expected to announce his card late today.

* * *

Charley Cardio has received several offers for the services of George Robinson since the latter scored his unexpected victory over Lee Anderson, former world's colored lightheavyweight champion. A Fall River club would like to promote a match between Robinson and Harry Greb, world's light-heavyweight champion. Robinson is willing to accept such a contest.

* * *

Greb is battling Billy Shade in Jersey next Monday night. This will be an easy one for Pittsburgh Harry. Shade showed at the Arena last Summer, kayoing Jack McClellan. Dave is the only Smallliver of the Shade family in the flatic world.

ENTERS TEAM OF 24 IN MEET TOMORROW

The track management of the School of Engineering, Northeastern University, has entered twenty-four men in the Boston Y. M. C. A. open Handicap Meet, tomorrow. Coach J. W. Smiley has entered the men as follows:

60-Yard Dash—J. H. Torrey, F. N. Clarke, J. C. Mirsalis, A. R. Gray, W. F. Mugnaio.
600-Yard Run—W. F. Parsons, H. G. Perkins, R. C. Shaw, H. F. Stanford, C. F. Hedlund, S. H. Shea.
Mile Run—R. C. Shaw, W. A. Shenk, J. Sampson.
Shot Put—C. C. Brooks, J. S. Brooks, A. M. Zak, F. D. Sanborn.

Sumac A. C. Wants Games

The Sumac A. C. is booking games with all fast semi-pro teams in the State. Write to T. J. Costello, No. 8 Dallas place, Roxbury, or telephone Roxbury 2108-M, between 6 and 7 p. m., any evening.

W		L

"You can't go wrong if you play Dundee," says Jack. "The Scotch Wop, one of the marvels of the boxing game, should pepper Martin with left jabs and right-hand smashes.

"Martin will bank his all on his terrific punching power. He says he will do a Willie Jackson on Dundee. It will be interesting to see him try to attempt this feat."

So as to make it a perfect day, Jack added that Lew Tendler will defeat Pal Moran at New York this p. m.

NEW AUSTRALIAN CHAMPION HERE

Ernie Gooseman, Australian ban tam champion, now of Los Angeles is the latest [illegible] boxer to [illegible] turn to the East, in search of new [illegible] laurels. He is at present in Milwaukee seeking to get a rep in that city. Joe Lynch is one particular fighter he is gunning for. Although Gooseman has engaged in numerous [illegible] bouts he has yet to be [illegible] defeated.

SHYNE AND EARLY ON ARENA CARD

The Arena A. C. today completed its card for its show at Mechanics Building Monday night when it signed Billy Shyne of Quincy to meet Tommy Early of Lawrence in an eight-round bout. Shyne is a stablemate of Eddie Shevlin, New England welterweight champion, who meets Dave Shade in the feature bout of ten rounds.

Shevlin has been doing road work so as to make himself fit for his tussle with Shade. He says he will carry the battle to close quarters and thus make it impossible for Dave to count with his long smashes to the jaw.

SAILOR BYRON WINS AGAINST MANDELL

Salem, Jan. 19.—Sailor Byron of Worcester, lightweight champion of New England, won the decision over Joe Mandell of Philadelphia, in the feature bout of ten rounds at the North street rink under the auspices of the Naumkeag A. A.

Kid Lee of Lynn won in the third round on a foul over Charlie Shepard of Peabody.

Soldier Joe O'Connor of Fort Banks was awarded the decision over Sailor Munley of Salem in six rounds.

Lefty Tyler Hears Back to Nature Call Again

GEORGE "LEFTY" TYLER

New York, Jan. 19.—George (Lefty) Tyler, who helped pitch the Braves to a pennant and world's champion ship in 1914 and later starred with the pennant winning Cubs in 1918 is on the road to a comeback, in spired by the performances of "Big Jack" Scott, ex-White Sox hurler, who returned to form with th Giants last Summer and proved th much-a-liver of the year's series triumph over the Yankees.

TENDLER MEETS MORAN TONIGHT

New York, Jan. 19.—So confident is Pal Moran of outpointing Lew Tendler over the fifteen rounds trail at Madison Square Garden tonight that he has issued a challenge to box Charley White. If it is a matter of record that Moran already holds two decisions over White but wants to convince New York fans that he's entitled to a battle with Leon ard.

Lew Tendler

Pal is in great shape for the Tendler bout, in far better condition than he has been for any assignments in his career.

After a stiff workout Thursday he jumped on the scales and tipped the beam at 136 pounds. The articles call for 137 pounds at 2 o'clock.

"I don't want to make it appear I'm using Leonard's name for publicity purposes challenging the champ," began Moran, "but I am sincere in getting White in a ring with me again. If there is one scrap see I can beat he is White. Tendler? I'll beat him sure. The old Philly boy hasn't gone fifteen rounds in a long long time, he's been out of the roped arena for months, so the dope points to me as his master.

"Tendler is a great fighter and all that," concluded Moran, "but he scares most of them. I'll step right into him and make him take a lacing a beat. If I get licked I'll have no alibi to offer because I'm in superb condition."

MIDDLESEX LEAGUE ANNOUNCES GAMES

The schedule for the Middlesex In terscholastic Baseball League is announced. There are four nines, Belmont, Lexington, Reading and Stoneham, in the circuit. Each team will play the other three times during the season in home and home encounters.

May 2—Belmont at Lexington.
May 5—Reading at Belmont.
May 11—Belmont at Stoneham.
May 16—Stoneham at Belmont.
May 18—Lexington at Read. E
May 23—Reading at Stoneham.
May 25—Lexington at Belmont
June 1—Belmont at Reading.
June 2—Lexington at Stoneham
June 6—Reading at Lexington.
June 8—Belmont at Stoneham.
June 13—Stoneham at Reading.

RED SOX PITCHER REAL SIX-FOOTER

Daniel Roy Fowlkes, the right hand pitcher from Dyersburg, Tenn., who is under contract with the Red Sox, is 6 feet 3½ inches tall in height. His team-mates on the Memphis club nicknamed him "Hy." He is some ball player. He finished for 1922 batted for .333 and he has a pitching average of .679 for last season.

HOCKEY TEAMS CLASH IN BATTLE FOR LEAD

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 19.—Eveleth's 7 to 0 victory over the Duluth hockey team here last night ousted the latter from leadership of the western group of the United States Amateur Hockey League and placed St. Paul and Cleveland in a tie for first place. Duluth is in second place. The second game of the two-game series will be played here tonight.

SARAZEN-HUTCHINSON COMBINATION BEATEN

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—E. S. Arnstrong and Norman Macbeth, amateurs, defeated Gene Sarazen, National open and professional golf champion, and Jack Hutchison, formerly British open champion, one up, at the Wilshire Country Club yesterday.

BRIDGE is now game that all must play in order to hold heads up in proper circles. Most people don't hold their hands up, but that's something else again. Person who thinks that bridge is contraption to go over river how to send on as barbarism. Played with cards and with utter carelessness also.

* * *

Game that's filled with conventions, just like Republican party don't mean a thing, just like democratic party. Most players start argument about conventions, and that's a bridge party. Before the battle is over, refreshments are served, and that's what they go for.

If you're lucky, you don't have to go to many bridge parties. But if you're married, you probably do. It's a great game, though. Only trouble is with people who play it, or say they do.

IF you don't believe times have changed, think this over. Cost me two dollars this morning to get 100 pounds of coal, including the so-called ambrailie, the bag, and a profiteering kid. When I was a youngster in Ottumwa, Ia., my mother used to pay two dollars for a ton, and it was real coal. No wonder they write songs about the good old days.

CANADIAN HOCKEY GETS A TEST TONIGHT

Tonight's hockey game at the Arena between Berlin, N. H., and the Boston Hockey Club will be a test between American and Canadian hockey. Berlin is made up of players who learned their hockey across the border, while the Boston Hockey Club is a strictly Yankee outfit.

Berlin is fighting for a place in the hockey sun. It comes here prepared to prove to the skeptics that it is entitled to admission to the United States League. It needs but a double victory here against the Hockey Club tonight and the Victorias tomorrow night to prove that the team should be added to the Eastern group of the U. S. League.

Little Rivard in the Berlin forward line will take well with the crowd. This midget is a flash on skates, a pretty dribbler and a steady and reliable scorer. Last year Rivard played great hockey here.

This year he has two cracking good men to work with in the forward line in Trihey and Louis Gauthier. Gauthier is a newcomer to Berlin circles and has done some lively scoring in the last few weeks.

A few hundred Yale students who have followed the work of the New Haven Westminsters this season and who feel grateful for what the club men have done to help develop Yale hockey, will accompany the Westies here next Wednesday for the United States League game with the B. A. A. The setback of New Haven at the hands of the Boston Hockey Club was a bitter pill for the Westies. They will come here next week a better hockey team than they showed here two weeks ago.

Lapham Leads Leaders

The Leaders' Club of the Huntington avenue Branch of the Y. M. C. A. has re-elected C. W. Lapham, president; C. E. Josselyn, vice president, and W. Sancho, secretary. This club is an organization of volunteer physical directors who are on the job whenever a Y athletic meet is staged.

TECH SWIMMERS OPPOSE WESLEYAN

The M. I. T. swimming team will oppose Wesleyan at Middletown tomorrow in its first meet of the season. The Tech team expects to annex their first victory as Wesleyan is not particularly strong except in the 100 yard and breast stroke.

The 100 yard local championships will be held at Brookline next Thursday. Proctology, Dartmouth, and Brown are the leading contenders for the title.

VARSITY
Jan. 20 Wesleyan at Middletown.
Jan. 27 Army at West Point.
Feb. 3 Open at Technology.
Feb. 9 Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H.
Feb. 17 Navy at Annapolis.
Feb. 24 Yale at New Haven.
Mar. 3 Brown at Boston.
Mar. 17 N. E. I. A. A. at Boston.
Mar. 24 I. C. A. A. at Princeton.

FRESHMEN

Feb. 3 Exeter at Exeter.
Feb. 10 Yale '26 at New Haven.
Feb. 17 Andover at Andover.
Mar. 3 Worcester Academy at Worcester.

ELKINS BATTLES HAUSNER AT PORTLAND

Charley "K. O." Elkins, of the South End, after a long lay-off, has resumed activities in the squared circle. He will do battle tonight with Jack Hausner at Portland.

Elkins will not want for opposition as Hausner will be remembered by the fans as the youth who put up some great battles in New York last Winter against "Pepper" Martin and "Babe" Herman.

Charley Elkins

Charley has not fought for some time, and his friends will know to night whether or not he let up has helped him. In the event of a victory for the Boston boy, he will be matched to box "Irish" Johnny Curtin January 31. The bout will probably take place at Portland, as Charley is well known and liked in the Pine Tree State.

PAUL DOYLE FINDS A SOFT ONE

Paul Doyle, former New England welterweight champion, will have a big benefit at the Pioneer Sporting Club of New York next Tuesday night. Doyle is booked to box one Hay Fryel of Pittsburgh. This is the young man who was recently knocked out by Eddie Shevlin in six rounds at Lynn.

Paul Doyle

Doyle is considered a heavier hitter than Shevlin and so should knock Fryel out of the picture unless he decides to permit the Pittsburgh warrior to linger the full distance.

WISCONSIN HAS NEW RING STAR

Battling Zwick of Kaukauna, twenty-three years old, has become [illegible] with the last month the most talked of boxer in Wisconsin. He has scored eleven knockouts in fourteen bouts and is considered a fine prospect for the welterweight title. His latest victim was Tom my Neary.

BRITISH GOLF STAR AFTER U. S. TITLES

New York, Jan. 19.—Captain Ernest F. Carter, noted British golfer and winner of four national tournaments in the British Isles since the war, today announced he would enter both the American open and National amateur championships this year.

Captain Carter, who intends to take his home in this country, plans to play in several of the amateur tournaments in the South during the Winter.

TITLE RACE MEET FOR ROLLER SKATERS

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Professional roller skaters will enter contest tonight here February 20 to 25 for the championship. Roland Conte present holder of the speed title, will defend his laurels. Half mile, mile, two, three, five and ten mile races will be run.

Heilman in Finals

Detroit, Jan. 19.—Harry Heilman the Tiger outfielder, is slated to play in the handball championship final Saturday, when old-timer declared Heilman's playing compares favorably with any of the experts of the country.

GOLD SKATES RACES WILL LIST MORE THAN 1,000 ENTRIES

MANY GIRLS SEND IN NAMES FOR EVENTS

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Fifty additional names were attached to the long list of GOLD SKATES entrants this morning, and that the total number to campaign for the prizes will exceed 1,000 is virtually certain.

Joseph Lewis

This large number of new entrants, and assurance from the Park Department of Boston that every effort will be made to prepare skating places for the opening, or preliminary series of races, one week from Saturday, were the two most interesting developments to come to the attention of the GOLD SKATES EDITOR of the Boston American today.

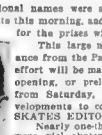
Nearly one-third of the number to forward names were girl skaters, ten of whom named McConnell Park as the playground nearest their home.

Yesterday's mail brought the first returns from the entry blanks mailed to those already listed to compete, fifteen of the fifty names being those of friends and acquaintances of the earlier entrants. And many times that number undoubtedly will reach this office late today and early tomorrow.

Winchester introduced no less than five young men who believe they are sufficiently good skaters to capture prizes. One of their number had this to say of their ability:

"Dickie Coss is positive he is going to win, so put him down as the winner.

"Shortie Horn says he will give lots of trouble, and pans to capture the Silver Skates.



Philip A. Shaw

"Indian Chamberlan is very swift and will have an easy time winning.

"Lawrence Keane, better known as 'Musical,' is a very prominent skater and says he is sure to win.

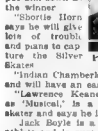
Others while not so confident are nevertheless going to do their best and hope to show up some of the boast ful ones.

Herbert Albright of Wollaston wrote:



Albert P. Hill

"I don't feel any too sure o winning against some of these fellows who claim they're so good, but at least I can find out just how good they are and just how much I must improve to beat them next year." And Angelo Serella of No. 4 2 2 Tremont street, Boston had this to say in his letter:

"I think the idea of the GOLD SKATES RACES is a good one, and I'm trying to get all my friends to enter, because if I can't win I would like to have some of my friends get the GOLD SKATES."

It should be remembered by all who contemplate entering the races that their blanks must be in the hands of GOLD SKATES EDITOR by Monday, January 22. That's the date the entry list closes, so rush your blanks at once and take no chances of missing the Monday mail delivery.

Today's entries were

BOSTON OFFICIALS AT WORCESTER BOUTS

Worcester, Jan. 19.—With two Boston judges and a Boston referee, probably because of the storm of criticism concerning the work of Worcester boxing officials, the Lake C. C. staged a successful boxing show in the Casino. J. Martin was referee and the judges were N. A. Bates and H. D. Henshaw.

Freddy Warren of South Boston was defeated by Walter Riley of Worcester, ten rounds. Joe Larry of New Haven defeated Young Terry of Holyoke in ten rounds. John Ricardi of Worcester defeated Sam Lucci of Clinton in six rounds.

Stanley Hill Post, No. 88, American Legion, of Lexington, has booked a game with the Dorchester Athletic Association for January 23.

TUFTS TO PLAY WESLEYAN TONIGHT

The fun is expected to fly at Godard Gym tonight when the Tufts basketball team plays Wesleyan and the Freshies line up against Bridgewater Normal School. The cub affair will start at 7.30 and the Brown and Blue varsity will take the floor one hour later.

Both should be good contests, as the visiting teams come to Medford with remarkable records. Last season Wesleyan defeated Tufts at Middletown by the scant margin of one point. The Connecticut boys have been traveling at high speed this Winter and are out to repeat.

Tufts was defeated by Tech last week, but Coach Ed. O'Donnell believes that his boys did not show their true speed and after a week spent smoothing out the rough points feels confident that the Middletown aggregation is in for a hard night.

The basketball floor at Goddard Gym has a peculiar effect upon the players. The walls are close to the sidelines and a balcony stretches around above the baskets which seems to make it easy to judge distance.

This is the reason that many high scores are made at Medford and Tufts accustomed to the court has an advantage over visiting teams. It also reacts against the Jumbo team when it invades differently laid out gymnasiums.

In all probability Tufts will be without the services of their captain and center, Rounds has been ill and only rejoined the squad on Wednesday, but if the score is close or the game is going against the home five, Coach O'Donnell will be forced to use him.

FIGHT RESULTS

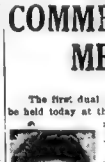
COMMERCE CHOICE OVER MECHANIC ARTS

By FRED C. LANE.

The first dual meet of the Boston High School track schedule will be held today at the Armory when Commerce and Mechanic Arts will meet. There is little hope of the combination being close, for Commerce is much stronger than the "machinists."



Arnold Rumpf.

Coach Flemming of the Back Bay school will throw 160 boys into today's conflict to uncover the best on the squad. Then have been numerous trial heats and some inter-class meets.

The chance of winning a first place and the much-coveted letter in the many events that are open to the juniors, intermediates and seniors will bring out the best performers of this large squad.

The boys who make a creditable showing will be made permanent members of the team, while those who fail to come up to expectations will be cut. It is the first chance that either the Commerce or Mechanics track team has had to show its strength and the occasion will benefit both coaches with knowledge of who is who.

The recent trial heats held at the Commerce gym outfits Robinson Hurley, Burke, Minnehan and Johnson to start in the senior dash Burke, Hurley and Robinson will also start in the 200 with several other prospects.

McCarthy and Newton are the foremost contenders for the 600. Collins, Gately and Powers look the best in the 1,000-yard run. Storey and Burns are best adapted in the broad jump. Taylor, Griffin and Reynolds will strive in the shot put. Rumpf and Garrity are logical choice for the high jump. The competition has been very close in the senior hurdles and with the exception of Rumpf, Coach Flemming is undecided on his entries.

The outstanding youngsters in the intermediate division are Sweeney Connolly, McKenzie and Levine in the dash, Golubchin and Sussoni in the 220, Welch and Kilduff in the 600.

McCarthy and Ryan stand out in the junior events. Both will take part in all the track and field events set for out for this division.

Medford Should Win by a Large Margin

It's just a question of how big a score Medford High will win by when it meets Boston College High today at the Medford gymnasium. The Medford athletes outclass the Maroon and Gold team in every event but the shot put. There are few high school teams in the State that have the strength of the Medford team.

Medford boasts of a star for every event with the exception of the shot put. Moore has improved in the dash events. His best performance is yet to come.

Joe Kelley over the 600-yard run betters his mark on every start. What Kelley lacks is close competition. He work outcasses the school boys of this section by such a wide margin that it's hardly possible that he will set up any new records this year unless pace is set.

Harold Moody's work in the high jump is brilliant. When Moody reached 5 feet 6 inches last year it was thought he had the limit in him. Two and a half inches were added to that mark in the alumni meet, and this was heralded as his best performance. For a climax to this steady improvement Moody leaned 5 6 3/4 inches in the Huntington meet.

His form is a little crude. His take-off and spring is of the best and it is only a question of time when this boy will be hitting the six foot mark.

Practically every schoolboy coach of any importance has been named for the Haverhill High Job since Broderick shifted his household effects to Salem. How the experts ever overlooked Jack Leary of Waltham High is the one question that puzzles the fans of the Watch City.

For consistent winners, there are few monikers in these parts who can compare with Leary.

ABBOT JUNIORS WILL OPPOSE ST. GEORGES

By ART CURLEY

The indoor soccer matches which have been staged every Saturday night for the past few weeks at the State Armory on Commonwealth avenue under the auspices of the 110th Cavalry, have been so well conducted and such a wonderful success in every way, that the Massachusetts sub-committee of the national amateur challenge cup committee has granted the Armory soccer committee permission to stage a round cup ties on their indoor field. This is the first time any big battle competition out of doors.

The first match in the new competition will be staged tomorrow night between the Abbot Worsted Juniors of Forge Village and the St. George A. A., of Boston. These two teams are considered the strongest of the Bay State and the game will be a real battle from the first whistle as they both will realize that the winner will undoubtedly qualify for the sectional final.

Although the local aggregation has won most of its games thus far this season and is composed of experienced players who work well together, the Worsted outfit is made up mostly of fast, gritty youngsters, some of whom hail from Quincy. They will make the Englishmen step lively, for on to the limit to get even a draw.

The crowds attending these Saturday night games have increased steadily each week and it is expected that a record crowd of enthusiasts will turn out to see the cup tie between two fast elevens.

This indoor sport will prove a great help to the Bay State clubs in the competition for the sub-committee has been notified that all second round matches must be completed by January 26 in order to catch up with the competition in the rest of the country.

The other prospective matches loom in the distance. They have been suggested to the committee by local fans and critics as good drawing cards. The first is between Fore River and Methuen, while the General Electrics and the Boston Blues both with reorganized teams are aching to get a whack at each other.

SWIMMING STAR WINS TITLE EVENT

Before a large crowd at the Brookline municipal baths, Miss Helen Wainwright, national champion swimmer, defended her title and defeated twelve other contestants in the 50 yard national championship race for women Her time was 30 1 5 Second. In the race was Miss Gertrude Ederle, fifteen-year-old swimmer, holder of the A. A. U. title for 220 yards and the quarter mile. A close third was Miss Alleen Riggin. All three are members of the New York City Women's Swimming Association and represented the United States in the last Olympiad held at Antwerp

The 150 yard national back stroke for men was won by Victor Kiffe, Metropolitan A. A. U. champion for that distance. He was an easy winner over Russell Dean and Joseph McCarthy, both members of the Brookline swimming team, who finished second and third Kiffe swam the distance in one minute, fifty eight and two fifths seconds.

Miss Aileen Riggin, Olympic Fancy Diving champion was declared winner of the fancy diving contest for women Miss Helen Wainwright finished second with Miss Esther Morrison, of Brookline, third.

M. F. Coles a freshman at Brown University, won the 1 0 yard scratch event for men and the 50 yard handicap for men was won by C. Oldhauser of the Brookline Swimming Club.

CALZA STAYS LIMIT AGAINST STECHER

George Calza and Joseph Stecher, former world's heavyweight champion wrestler, battled for an hour and a half and Stecher failed to down the Italian champion. George Kotsonaros, the Greek champion, looked on and gave the rangy farmer from the West the merry ha ha," as he vainly waited for a turn to take a fall out of the Italian expert.

It happened before the largest crowd of fans that ever wended their way into the Grand Opera House for any event of the sort.

The Old Howard management had a man's size job to handle the great gathering of wrestling enthusiasts and more than five hundred were turned away.

In the main bout Stecher agreed to topple both Calza and Kotsonaros.

Stecher was to choose whom he supposed was the easier man for the first of the two bouts To the great surprise of many he picked Calza.

Calza started at Stecher when the referee gave the word to go and pounced upon the Kansas wheat farmer. The Greek was not long in realizing that he had plenty of trouble on his hands in fact he showed a trifle later of being and must have figured he was in over his head for taking on such a burden.

If the match was decided on points the entire affair would have been a draw but for the finish. Stecher forced Calza to the mat with a body scissors hold and the referee declared the Greek had submitted. Calza and Kotsonaros both claimed a fall.

Calza tried and again resorted to a head lock but Stecher shook himself loose and a few seconds later had Calza on the mat. Calza was groggy

Engaged couples will take a course as part of their trousseau. After they are married they can put on the gloves and banne it on exercise.

If the school includes in its gymnastic course training in cocktail shaking, with apparatus supplied, there will be a stamp famine.

Bargain sale fans will study football technique and want to know all about quarterback and halfback. Old maids would devour the football section along with "getting your man."

Attractive lapine headlines could be: Sleeping Out on the Subway. Two Days It Rained Over the South Pole. Four Miles With Jaws Wired. To combat a touch attack and strike a toe hold on a foot of snow. Would come in for special treatment.

If a mail order runner happened to be leading the pack and have to sprint to the federal office and wire for instructions.

Concerning baseball, one could say that the bases remain full the whole game and the position at the plate is that of in one hand and the book in the other, and the umpire is unbiased. If he hit a home run by mistake he'd get expelled from the school.

Letter contests between undergraduates would read like this: "Two months ago our team scored and left a runner on first where he has been sleeping ever since. If we do not hear from you by the first of the year we wish to state that our entire team will go home for supper."

Or this from two pugilists fighting each other over the distances of ten rounds and ten States: "In my last letter I informed you that I knocked you for a goal by stepping back on you my famous boomerang left hook blow. If you refuse to be counted out I will consider that you are still unconscious and owe me all the gate receipts."

May, a little girl of six was looking though fifth out of the window of her home the other day. Her mother questioned her as to the cause of her solemnness. "Oh," she replied, "I was just thinking that when I grow up to be a big lady I'm going to get married and have children." Her mother, although very much surprised, was pleased. "You will be fortunate," she replied. "I replied the fond mother. The little miss grew silent and thoughtful. Finally she said: "But of course, you never can tell who her I might marry a bachelor."

Wedding Ethics

By Les Conklin

A.—The best man is supposed to tip the minister, keep a straight face (if possible) and be ready to act as pallbearer if the bridegroom should happen to get heart failure at the last moment.

Q.—What is the correct dress for a groomsman?

A.—It should be as similar as possible to that of the bridegroom One way of doing this is to hire the dress suit from the same second-hand store.

A.—Yes. It does not matter how much a man spends for a wedding ring because it will probably be given back to him within a few months anyway.

Q.—What should be served at the wedding breakfast?

A.—The happy pair may make an economical start by sweeping up the rice which has been thrown at them and serving it in the form of cereal and rice cakes The groom should be given all the biscuits he wants because he won't be able to eat any of his wife's for the next six months.

A.—It is not necessary for the groom to wear a ring because anybody can tell that he is married just by looking at him.

Q.—Is it proper to call on a newly married couple as soon as they return from their honeymoon?

A.—You are not expected to call on them until you are invited to. It is not wise to visit the groom right away because he will be dead broke and will probably want to borrow money from you Bill collectors and furniture salesmen should call immediately after pay-day.

"I went for one once," replied Bill, "and he very nearly killed me!"

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

SHE doesn't have to live with him a couple of years to find it out, she discovered it the last time she was married to him.

IT seems kind of funny that a woman never had her former husband "up" at court as long as she was second to get married she might just as well keep it in the family.

ALL cut men are willing to remarry their former wives, it's always in the long run.

ONE guy had been wed seven times and when he started to remarry his ex-wives he took them in rotation.

IF he lives to be sixty years old he figures that he will have been married to each one of them three times.

MOST husbands live from hand to mouth, but the guy lives from church to divorce court.

HE can pay it because he's in a so busy getting rich that he doesn't have time to.

HE believes in keeping one wife at a time, one going and another coming.

HE doesn't bother about the dates, all that he keeps track of is the arrivals and departures.

ARE YOU WITHHOLDING ENCOURAGEMENT?

"My personal appreciation is a minor question among the many you have doubtless received, but if it lends even the smallest bit of encouragement to the fine work you are doing, I shall be glad."

The sentence is part of a letter received by a man who is trying to do his bit toward making humanity see life in a better light; to add a little encouragement to those who are having a hard struggle, to point out to those who are selfish the true spirit which should actuate them in their daily lives.

The man who wrote the foregoing has the right idea in expressing words of encouragement and commendation to those who are trying to do something worthy, whether the man be big or little in world's affairs.

Some of us are too thoughtless to compliment the person who does something praiseworthy, others are too envious to do so, and certain others are so self-centered that they cannot see anything commendable in anything in which they have no part.

If more bouquets were given to the living and fewer wreaths to the dead the world would be a happier place to live.

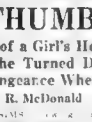
THUMBS DOWN

The Story of a Girl's Heartless Laugh and How the Man She Turned Down Resolved to Take Vengeance When His Chance Came

By Bertha R. McDonald

PHILEAS SIMS was a big back [illegible] advertising [illegible] paper in [illegible] hands and [illegible] staring [illegible] space wh[illegible] Burke Jeffe[illegible]son came into the office.



"What's up Phil?" asked the junior partner breezily. "You look as if you'd seen a ghost!"

"I have," answered Sims, [illegible] a ghost of a bleak, cold year [illegible] and it has brought back with [illegible] vividness a [illegible] I thought I would be [illegible] know. I knew I would [illegible] to remember and fate has placed [illegible] my hands

"See this?" he went on, [illegible] thing out the [illegible] pipe and pointing to an [illegible] among the [illegible] for [illegible] me. "The woman that's [illegible] this place is the only girl I ever cared a snap for. We were kids together, although I was quite a bit older than she, and she let me wait on her hand and foot; she took my cinnamon drops and apple taffies, ate them and smacked her lips; then when I grew old enough to ask her to marry me she threw me over."

Heart Dictates

"Every girl has a right to follow the dictates of her own heart, but she scorned me, Burke, laughed at me! Gad! I'll hear that laugh till I pass out! Then she married a city fellow that was taking our town by storm and then moved away. I've sworn I'd get even some day and that's what I'm going to do."

"Don't you think you've grown a little bitter on this subject, Phil? Perhaps the girl didn't really mean to laugh at you. Youth is an excuse for a lot of things, you know."

"Oh, she meant it all right. I was tall, lean and awkward with no money, and the other fellow was nearer her own age—one of those smooth proposition men, you know, till he quit but plain ordinary four flusher when it came to finances. I lost track of them for a while, but when I saw this advertisement I made a few inquiries, and now my mind's made up.

"I'm going to buy that home Burke, or rather, you're going to buy it for me. You'd better go tell her she can stay there for her present rent. She won't know it, but the first time she [illegible] her rent, out she goes. It won't be long, because her husband's dead and she's in debt up to the hilt—place [illegible] with mortgages and all that stuff. When she's out in the street—that's where I come in. Would she [illegible] at my proposal then!"

Burke Jefferson did not relish the part he was to play in his partner's proposed deal but [illegible] ashing a [illegible] time than by [illegible] himself in the transaction he might be able eventually to switch Sims from [illegible] plan for vengeance, he went to call up on her.

After the deal was closed and the little house had been signed over to him, Burke could [illegible] the office, wondering every [illegible] of the way, how any [illegible] could be purely sweet and [illegible] as Doris Edwards [illegible] have laughed—heartlessly, at least—at anybody.

"Well, how about [illegible] quested Sims when he [illegible] in. "Put the deal through [illegible]?"

"Here's your [illegible] answered Jefferson [illegible], "and I never hated to take anything so [illegible] in all my life. [illegible] may have been a bit heartless as a girl, Phil, but I [illegible] deception and suffering [illegible] from her viewpoint. My heart [illegible] for her."

"Cut the mush, Jefferson. You have got to be [illegible] when it comes to [illegible] business. What I want you to do now is to visit the house, [illegible] personally on the first [illegible] and collect the rent. It will [illegible] it will [illegible] and, [illegible] After that [illegible]

On the first of the [illegible] month, Phileas Sims sat in his [illegible] office [illegible] mahogany [illegible] and [illegible] impatiently for [illegible] Jefferson. "If I'm hard," he [illegible] to himself, Doris has [illegible] and she deserves all [illegible] getting, but contractive he [illegible] breathed a sigh of [illegible] Jefferson finally came [illegible] the money on the [illegible]

"There you are Mr. Landlord," [illegible] cheerfully. "I'll bet it didn't ease Mrs. Edwards much [illegible] her tenancy after that came [illegible] side hand-it it over like a [illegible] a sport."

If she [illegible] me like her folks [illegible] her to," snapped Sims, [illegible] she having plenty of money [illegible] and a fine home, too."

During the months that followed [illegible] Jefferson tried on one or two occasions to [illegible] his part [illegible] from his ulterior purpose, but with steely eyes and a heart of adamant Phileas Sims steadfastly insisted that the Widow Edwards [illegible] pay for an innocent girlish laugh which had echoed down through the years until it had become to the man a hollow mockery which haunted him night and day.

In mid-Winter, when the snow fell and the price of coal went up, he felt any tugging at his heart strings he turned from the sensation relentlessly and resolutely intended for the memory of that girlish laugh. When almost a year had rolled by, with all the payments met promptly, not on the tenth but on the very first of every single month, Sims began to do some wondering. He made several surreptitious trips to the suburb where Doris Edwards lived, and when he had satisfied himself as to the exact state of affairs, he summoned Burke Jefferson for an accounting.

Got the Goods

"Yes, Phil," Jefferson stated, without hesitation. "You've got the goods on us all right. It's true every word of it. I did put on the widow's rent myself every time she was short—what's more, I'm going to do the rent stunt for her regularly, from now on, as long as I live. You see, we were married last night. Oh, Phil, old man, be reasonable about this love affair, [illegible]." That poor child has been dragged through the very pit of hell. Certainly she's earned a little peace and comfort for—"

"Stop!" commanded Simms, raising his hand. "I know—I've been out there—Doris doesn't suspect it, but I've been there—seen the lines of suffering in her face, and—oh, the devil! The long and short of it is, I've been a fool. I've got a bargain, Burke, and I don't like it missed. Here—take this deed to the house in Doris' darling gift from me. No—don't try to thank me, just let a tired, worn-out man efface to see you once in a while, that's all!"

Terrible Moments

When You Ask Betty's Father for Her Hand

THAT'S a terrible minute sure'

I wished, when I was little, that I was a b*y. Boys could stay out on the prairie later, they could turn a better flip-flop on the minister's fence, they never had to sing "Shine On, Little Sta-a-a-a-ar!" at the church Christmas doings and have the organ cease and leave them to go alone. They never had to wash their necks as often, and they could settle things up in a good, soul-satisfying manner when they and the chuckle-headed boy across the aisle didn't agree! I wished that then—just as hard as a little towhead who loved a dog and the whole outdoors and boy conversation and boy books could!

But I haven't for a long time. And I don't ever when I remember that I'd have to look some grim-faced man, who called the Betty whom I loved his "baby," in the eye—and propose to him! Propose to him that I —SWIPE HER AWAY! So it's good to be a girl—oh, just for that reason alone; kissing your fingers to all the other things that go to make "being a girl" delectable.

For Launcelot Du Lake never puffed out his chest as wide or took as big a breath when he swung his whistling sword for marvelous adventure as a chap does when he buttons up his coat—swallows his sick heart—grips the hand of the little cowardy-custard behind him —and asks her father for her. Asking for your first "job" is a terrible episode. But this is a stunner beside it. For you know he doesn't love you—no matter what a safe, comfortable, bustling, clean, square chap you are —because you're a thief. He might as well be blind— he doesn't see your smooth, clean look and straightgasing eyes—you look just like a porch-climber to him!

Anyway, you're afraid you do. And the speech—the speech! Where is it? Last night, in the dark peace of your bed, you said it off—and it was a great talk! It was short—beautifully short—and it was full of sense and persuasion—it put your case and Betty's truthfully and perfectly—and it reminded him that he had once been in your shoes and had LESS than you—reminded him that "up to now" he had liked you—held all the arguments that Love has preached to the world since the tiny beginning of things. It was beautiful. It was honest and serious and short. And where is it now? All you can think of is "She loves me (say yes), and I love her—and I can make her happy!" They all say that!

You almost wish you had fallen in love with an orphan!

When a Girl Marries

By Ann Lisle

"CAN'T I? Oh, I think I can." As he said it, lightly, Park turned to me with a smile that was all of his lips. In his eyes there was a queer light which made me rummage about in memory for the cue to whatever in his personality is ordinarily hidden by his high spirits.

"But Mabel Storrs is young," I protested, because I must say something, and I felt safer dealing with the obvious.

"And Aunt May wasn't very sure of herself or very happy. That might make for cynicism, too," replied Park, with what may have been a flash of insight and, on the other hand, may have been a tit for-tat reply along obvious lines.

"So you're going to insist on treating the beautiful lady manager of my husband's office and my dear little partner in the same way," I said uneasily, and realizing that I wasn't giving a very good account of myself.

Dear Boy

"Yes'um," laughed Park. "And I'll call upon you to remember that Aunt May considers me the dear boy, bar one, in all the world. So if you don't consider my methods efficient, and if I'm not always obvious, bear with me yet a while, Mrs. Anne Harrison. We may not seem to be getting there, but we guarantee results. Aunt Lee on one the beautiful! He who will complete our triangle. I move and second it that this luncheon club shall meet once a week. The ayes have it. It is a vote. We meet once a week, Mrs. Anne, Queen Mab and Puck—known formerly as Park heigh-ho. Are we off?"

"You funny, funny, boy!" Mabel chuckled. "Just think I was blue a little while ago, Anne. And here comes the gay youth and jeans me into happy frame of mind. I didn't know there was another boy in the world as kindly as Oliver."

"Oh, I'm a very nice boy!" Park assured her. "A little young, but the years will remedy that, child —but I'll grow. And now, my dear old ladies, let us away."

Still Chuckling

With Mabel still chuckling, we started off. But somehow I was irritated. Mrs. Anne Harrison, to conduct himself like a young imp? Certainly nothing in his absurd clowning quite like a stoker, readjusting a stoker, reading creeds of old Cathay. Nothing suited Highbrow better than to spend his with and while solving some uncertain letter on a tomb beside the Nile. As the seasons swiftly speeded, Henry had to eat, of course; but this fact he scarcely heeded, he was tracing history's source. Wooing culture with such ardor, he thought not of rent or grub he forgot his empty larder, so his wife went out to scrub. Sanskrit brought her little pleasure for she labored like a Turk;

"I've bought a building," said Parsniff to Lester one day, "and I can't think of a motto to put over his kennel. Can you think of something?"

YOUR BEAUTY

NEW SERIES OF AUTHORITATIVE ARTICLES

By Maria Jeritza

Famous Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Co. and One of the Most Beautiful Women of the Day

THERE is a deadly enemy to even the rarest charm and beauty—it is called "self-consciousness"

Many a girl, suffering agonies of shy timidity, longing to be happy with other young people, yet held hard and fast by her own fear of being her natural, sweet self, has prayed in agony for relief from this torture.

One recalls the sad story of the young man who wrote to a column of advice to young people, asking how he could overcome his terrible fault of bashfulness and was given this comforting advice: "Simply assume an easy and pleasing manner." Poor young man! Had he been able to assume the "easy and pleasing manner" he never would have needed advice on the subject of bashfulness.

But the reality is a delightful way of achieving charm and grace without which mere beauty is quite lifeless, and this mental poise restores to you fascinating individuality which is rightly yours and which attracts as naturally as sunshine. Here is the charm recipe:

When you become really interested in others and in all the wonderful constructive activities going on about you, numerous ways suggest themselves of adding to the general enjoyment of the people you know. You may have a gift for playing accompaniments which you can contribute, or perhaps you can make candy better than any one else.

Watch out constantly for the tactful, thoughtful, considerate word or deed which will help to keep things going comfortably and you will find your self-consciousness more seriously vanishing.

Of course, in making your toilette, be sure that you are dressed as well as possible, that you have made yourself appear as attractive as you can with the means at your disposal. Then with the comfortable assurance that you are looking your best, why should you bother with thoughts of self when you have the thrilling adventure of living to interest you, with all its opportunities for helpfulness and growth and new experience?

Whether you find yourself busy in an office, schoolroom, factory or in your home, make your work and the interests of your associates your own great interest. Try to compete with and to excel, not other persons, but your own efforts of yesterday.

When it is a question not of work but of play, honestly interest yourself in the fun and if you can not talk well at least listen well and enjoy yourself.

Whether at work or at play, give, give, give, of your wisest and your best. When you work and play constructively you can neither cringe nor be arrogant—you can neither overestimate nor underestimate yourself, for you forget yourself and find your real, normal self.

When boys and girls and women and men give of their mental best in this unselfish way without thought of return, the strange thing is that they receive even more than they give for to such persons the world gladly gives of its best.

All this may seem a far cry from beauty chats, recipes and exercises, but the fact is that beauty lotions and even hours of patient beauty culture will do little for the person who is deliberately self-centered. All these aids have immense value, however to the person who uses them merely as a means toward the end of giving joy to others through the completion of her own charms and power for constructive good.

The crowning gift of naturalness is added to the beauty of the girl who, in the words of your wise philosopher, "Looks up and not down, looks out and not in, lends a hand."

RAPID RECUPERATION AFTER TYPHOID AMAZES FRIENDS

Cuneo Says Wincarnis Did It

"When I was able to walk around, the doctor said it would be a month or more before I would get back strength. I had pains on both of my sides and around my heart. One evening my brother saw an advertisement of Wincarnis and my mother got me a large bottle.

"By the time I had finished the bottle the pains on my right side were gone. I continued to take Wincarnis and soon the pain on my left side and around my heart disappeared and I quickly became well and strong and was feeling fine long before the time the doctor had said it would take me to get well. All my friends asked me what it was that I was taking that made me look well so quickly."

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

Take Jad Salts at First Sign of Acid Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead or your back hurts; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then be fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs to every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

THE PRIDE OF PALOMAR By PETER B. KYNE

START THIS NEW STORY TODAY

The story opens on the Rancho Palomar, an extensive tract in Southern California. Old Don Miguel Farrel, alone on the heavily mortgaged rancho with only his last faithful retainer, Pablo Artelan, and the latter's expansive wife, receives a telegram from the War Department at Washington announcing the death in battle in Siberia of his only son, "Don Mike." The shock kills him. Don Mike arrives and finds a family of Parkers there, including a beautiful daughter, Kay. Mr. Parker is scheming to get the ranch and sell it to the Japanese. Don Mike asks him to bid on it and then refuses to sell. Kay gives Bill Conway money to go on building a dam on the ranch. She becomes jealous of a girl neighbor of Don Mike's.

"AND Anita is the only child, is she not?"

"Always was, Kay. She's an old peach. Came to the hospital and cried over me and wanted to loan me enough money to lift the mortgage on my ranch."

He nodded. She turned her face away that he might not see the pallor that overspread it. "It is a very great comfort to me," he resumed presently, "to realize that the world is not altogether barren of love and kindness."

"It was the dearest wish of my poor father and of Anita's that the ancient friendship between the families should be cemented by a marriage between Anita and me. For me Senora Sepulvida would be a marvelous mother-in-law, because she's my kind of people and we understand each other. Really, I feel tremendously complimented because, even before the oil strike saved the family from financial ruin, Anita did not lack opportunities for many a more brilliant match."

"She's—dazzling," Kay murmured drearily. "What a brilliant wife she will be for you!"

"Anita is far too fine a woman for such a sacrifice. I've always entertained a very great affection for her and she for me. There's only one small bug in our amber."

"And that——"

"We aren't the least bit in love with each other. We're children of a later day and we object to the old-fashioned method of a marriage arranged by papa and mama. I know there must be something radically wrong with me; otherwise I never could resist Anita."

"But you are going to marry her, are you not?"

"I am not. She wouldn't marry me on a bet. And of course I didn't accept her dear old mother's offer of financial aid. Couldn't, under the circumstances, and besides, it would not be kind of me to transfer my burden to them. I much prefer to paddle by own canoe."

He noticed a rush of color to the face as she turned abruptly toward him now. "What a heritage of pride you have, Miguel. But are you quite certain Anita does not love you? You should have heard all the nice things she said about you today."

"She ought to say nice things about me," he replied casually. "When she was quite a little girl she was given to understand that her ultimate mission in life was to marry me. Of course I always realized that it would not be a compliment to Anita to indicate that I was not head over heels in love with her. I merely pretended I was too bashful to mention it.

With Tears in Her Eyes

"Finally one day Anita suggested, as a favor to her and for the sake of my own self-respect, that I abandon the pose; with tears in her eyes she begged me to be a gallant rebel and save her from the loving solicitude of her parents to see her settled in life. At that moment I almost loved her, particularly when, having assured her of my entire willingness and ability to spoil everything, she kissed me rapturously on both cheeks and confided to me that she was secretly engaged to an engineer chap who was gophering for potash in Death Valley. The war interrupted his gophering, but Anita informs me that he found his potash, and now he can be a sport and bet his potash against Senora Sepulvida's crude oil. Fortunately, my alleged death gave Anita an opportunity to advance his claims, and he was in a fair way of becoming acceptable until my unexpected return rather greased the skids for him. Anita's mother is trying to put the poor devil the double-cross now, but I told Anita she needn't worry."

Kay's eyes glowed with merriment—and relief. "But," she persisted, "you told me your problem was settled? And it isn't."

"It is. I'm going to sell about eighteen thousand dollars worth of cattle off this ranch, and I've got the valley grazing privilege for one year for ten thousand dollars. My raid on Loustalot netted me sixty-seven thousand dollars, so that my total bankroll is now about ninety-five thousand dollars. At first I thought I'd let Bill Conway have most of my fortune to help him complete that dam, but I have now decided to stop work on the dam and use all of my energy and my fortune to put through such other deals as may occur to me. If I am lucky I shall emerge with sufficient funds to save the ranch. If I am unlucky, I shall lose the ranch. Therefore, the issue is decided. 'Quien sabe, Senorita? All's right with the world.' What have you been doing all day?"

Kay Parker Considers Plans for Helping Don Mike

"Painting and sketching. I'll never be a worth-while artist, but I like to paint things for myself. I've been trying to depict on canvas the San Gregorio in her new spring gown, as you phrase it. The arrival of the Sepulvida family interrupted me, and I've been sitting here since they departed. We had tea."

"Getting a trifle bored with the country, Kay? I fancy you find it lonely out here."

"It was a trifle quiet while you were in hospital. Now that you're back I suppose we can ride occasionally and visit some of the places of local interest."

"By all means. As soon as I get rid of that little bunch of cattle I'm going to give a barbecue and festival to the countryside in honor of my guests. We'll eat a half dozen fat two-year-old steers and about a thousand loaves of bread and a couple of barrels of claret and a huge mess of chilli sauce. When I announce in the El Toro Sentinel that I'm going to give a fiesta and that everybody is welcome, all my friends and their friends and relatives will come, and I'll be spared the trouble of visiting them individually. Don Nicolas Sandoval remarked when he collected that Loustalot judgment for me that he supposed I'd do the decent thing, now that I could afford it. Mother Sepulvida suggested it and Anita seconded the motion. It will probably be the last event of its kind on such a scale ever given in California, and when it is finished it will have marked my transition from an indolent rancher to some sort of commercial go-getter."

"I see. Little Mike, the Hustler."

He Nodded

He nodded, rose and stood before her, smiling down at her with an inscrutable little smile. "Will you motor me in to El Toro tomorrow morning?" he pleaded. "I must go there to arrange for cattle cars."

"Of course."

"Thank you, Kay. Now, if I have your permission to withdraw, I think I shall make myself presentable for dinner."

He hesitated a moment before withdrawing, however, meanwhile gazing down on her with a gaze so intent that the girl flushed a little. Suddenly his hand darted out and he had her adorable little chin between his brown thumb and forefinger, shaking it with little shakes of mock ferocity. He seemed about to deliver some important announcement—impassioned even, but to her huge disgust he smothered the impulse, jerked his hand away as if he had scorched his fingers, and blushed guiltily. "Oh, I'm a sky-blue idiot," he had growled and left her abruptly.

A snort—to a hunter It would have been vaguely reminiscent of that of an old buck deer suddenly disturbed in a thicket—caused her to look up. At the corner of the wall Pablo Artelan stood, starring at her with alert interest; his posture was one of a man suddenly galvanized into immobility. Kay blushed, but instantly decided to appear nonchalant.

"Good evening, Pablo," she greeted the majordomo. "How do you feel after your long, hard day on the range?"

Leaned Against Wall

The girl noted his emphasis. "That's very nice of you, Pablo, I'm sure. Have you any idea," she continued with bland innocence, "why Don Miguel is so happy this evening?"

Pablo leaned against the adobe wall, thoughtfully drew forth tobacco bag and brown cigarette paper and, while shaking his head and appearing to ponder Kay's question, rolled a cigarette and lighted it. "Well, senorita," he began presently, "I theenk first nobbeso set ees because Don Miguel find heem one leetle piece paper on the trail. I am see him seeck those paper up and look at heem for long time before he ride to me and ask me many question about the senorita and Senor Best Conway those day we ride to Agua Caliente. He say to me: 'Pablo, you see Senor Best Conway give to the senorita a writing?' 'Si, senor.' 'You see Senorita Parker give to Senor Best Conway a writing?' 'Si, senor.' Then Don Miguel hee's don' say nosseeng more, but just shake hees cabeza like those." And Pablo gave an imitation of a muchly puzzled man wagging his head to stimulate a flow of ideas.

"Oh, well, yes, he say someeseeng. He say: 'Well, I'bedam!' Then that leetle smile he don' have for long time come back to Don Miguel's face and hee's happy like one baby. I don' un'erstand those boy until I see those business"—Pablo wiggled his tobacco-stained thumb and forefinger—"when I know someetheeng! For long time those boy hee's pretty particular. Even those so beautiful senorita. 'Nita Sepulvida, she don' rose those boy like you rope senorita." And with the license of an old and trusted servant, the sage of Palomar favored her with a knowing wink.

"He knows—he knows!" the girl thought. "What must he think of me! Oh, dear, oh, dear! If he mentions the subject to me I shall die." Tears of mortification were in her eyes as she turned angrily upon the amazed Pablo. "You—you—old sky-blue idiot!" she charged and fled to her room.

Claimed Privilege

Kay's first coherent thought was to claim the privilege of her sex —a headache—and refrain from joining Don Mike and her parents at dinner. Upon consideration, however, she decided that since she would have to face the issue sooner or later she might as well be brave and not try to evade it. For she knew now the fate of the promissory note Bill Conway had given her and which she had thrust into the pocket of her riding coat. It had worked out of her pocket and dropped beside the trail to Agua Caliente Basin, and fate had ordained that it should be found by the one person in the world not entitled to that privilege. Kay would have given fifty thousand dollars for some miraculous philter which, administered surreptitiously to Miguel Farrel, would cause him to forget what the girl now realized he knew of her secret negotiations with Bill Conway for the sale and cut of the ranch. Nevertheless, despite her overwhelming embarrassment and distress, the question occurred to her again and again: What would Don Miguel Farrel do about it? She hadn't the slightest doubt but that his tremendous pride would lead him to reject her aid and comfort, but how was he to accomplish this delicate procedure? The situation was fraught with as much awkwardness and embarrassment for him as for her.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

Be Sure To Read Them To Your Children

By Blanche Silver.

DICKEY MAKES A COMMON MISTAKE.

ONE day as Dicky wandered over the prairie he spied a dear little furry animal sitting on a mound of dirt. He hid behind a bush so as not to frighten the little fellow.

"Pshaw! You needn't hide," chuckled a merry voice. The little furry creature lifted his paw and shook it in the direction of the bush. "Come on out, Sonny. I see you. I'm not like most of my relatives. I'm not afraid of you in the least."

"Why, aren't you a prairie dog?" Dicky asked. "I thought surely you were a prairie dog."

"I'm sorry," laughed his companion, "but I'm not. I'm a marmot, or in common everyday talk, I'm a woodchuck—just a plain old woodchuck."

"Well, I'll eat my hat if you're not built just like a prairie dog," Dicky laughed. "He has the same stout body, short tail and round head that you have. Why, I would have bet my last cent you were one."

"I'm glad I'm not," laughed Mr. Woodchuck. "I've been called so many things, I'm beginning to think I don't know just who I am. Think of that! I'll admit I do live under the ground most of my time, but I can't say that I eat much, so why call me a hog? Ground-hog! Pshaw! The title makes me shiver. Then, to think folks say that if I come out the second of February and see my shadow, I go back, and that makes a late Spring. Did you ever hear anything so ridiculous in all your life? Just as if we fellows had anything to do with the weather!"

"How did they ever come to say that about you fellows? Dicky asked. "I've heard it many times."

"Just so as to have someone to blame for the late Spring, I guess," chuckled Mr. Woodchuck. "The truth of the whole thing is, I get so tired of sleeping and so hungry during the Winter months that I grow restless and hungry, and get up to find something to eat. If the weather's just right, I don't go back to bed again, but if it's still cold and snowy, I crawl back and keep warm. Cloudy or sunshiny weather doesn't make any difference. If it's warm outside, I stay up—if not, I go back to bed."

"Just as I do in the Winter time," Dicky laughed. "Mornings when it's real cold, I stay in bed longer than I do when it's warm."

"Well, it's a funny old world," Mr. Woodchuck chuckled merrily. "But it doesn't hurt me any—those silly tales about me. Let them blame it onto me, I don't care." And he glittered up a pocketful of scorns and hurried away.

ETIQUETTE POINTERS

By Ann Adams

DEAR MISS ADAMS:

Will you kindly inform me whether it is the custom to tip a riding instructor?

DOUBTFUL.

ANSWER: It is well to ascertain in what class your riding instructor belongs before offering a tip. Many college men take positions as riding instructors to help pay their way through college. These men should undoubtedly be given the extra remuneration. There are society men of wealth who are riding instructors, in some of the better riding schools, merely for the sport. It is customary to offer your instructor a bill at the end of a number of lessons instead of the small tip each time.

Miss Adams will be glad to answer questions on etiquette submitted by readers.

WHO SAID IT AND WHERE

"Dear as Remembered Kisses After Death."

"From One Learn All."

"Pride, the Never Failing Vice of Fools."

"Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

Cain thus replied when Jehovah asked the whereabouts of his brother, was, Genesis vi, 4. The expression is often used by those who seek to shirk their responsibility by similar evasions.

"A Rolling Stone Gathers No Moss."

"Conscience Makes Cowards of Us All."

The knowledge of having done an evil deed keeps the doer in constant dread, and makes him wary and cautious, as Shakespeare has well said in the above, from "Hamlet."

"The Heart That Has Truly Loved, Never Forgets."

"Our Own Felicity We Make or Find."

"Memory Wore My Heart Away."

Significant Incidents in Lives of Famous Women

What Lady Grey's Royal Blood Brought the Nine Days' Queen

IF Lady Jane Grey had not been the great-granddaughter of King Henry VII., and the great-niece of Henry VIII., of England, she might have lived the wholesome, happy life of a young English girl.

But because she had this strain of royal blood in her veins her life was difficult and her death tragic.

Before Henry VII. died he mentioned Lady Jane as a possible heir to the throne of England. This announcement fired her father, the Marquis of Dorset, with ambition.

To equip her properly to be a queen, the little girl's education was started. And it was a rigorous schooling through which she was obliged to struggle.

Lady Jane had a natural social gift. When she was ten years old, her beauty and charm won for her many friends at court. So attractive was this little lady that the Dowager Queen became fascinated with her and asked to have her attached to her person as a lady-in-waiting. Lady Jane remained in this office at court for several years.

When Lady Jane was fourteen her tricky father was made Duke of Suffolk, and was summoned to court. He thought his charming daughter could help him. So Lady Jane went to court again.

At this time, another schemer was at court in the person of the Duke of Northumberland, the most powerful man in England. He met the brilliant Lady Grey, recognized her possibilities, and immediately visualized her as the wife of his son, Guilford. He knew that this girl might one day be Queen of England, and it would be very convenient to be her father-in-law.

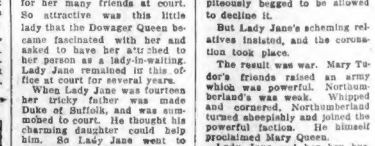
But two other women claimed the throne. They were his sisters, Mary Tudor, afterward known as "Bloody Mary," and Elizabeth, famed as "The Virgin Queen." Edward had not mentioned them as heirs, because his father, Henry VIII., the much-married King, had declared them illegitimate.

Immediately on the King's death, Lady Jane's ambitious father and father-in-law urged her to accept the crown. She had a presentiment that it would bring her nothing but sorrow, and piteously begged to be allowed to decline it.



Lady Jane's Ambitious Father Urged Her to Accept the Crown

The result was war. Mary Tudor's friends raised an army which was powerful. Northumberland's was weak. Whipped and cornered, Northumberland turned sheepishly and joined the powerful faction. He himself proclaimed Mary Queen.

Lady Jane and her boy husband were seized and hurried into the Tower of London. They were swiftly convicted of treason and sentenced to be beheaded.

She was just seventeen when she was executed on the same block which was wet with the blood of the boy to whom she had been married—and all because she happened to have royal blood in her veins.

SMILE AT THESE

Georgette—What's the matter, are you sick?

Ludwig—No, I lost my job today and I'm broke.

Georgette—Oh, that's all right. I'll give you the wrist watch that Reggie Van Astorbilt gave me for Xmas so you can take it down to the pawnshop and get enough to buy the tickets.

Hardy—But she's as homely as sin. What on earth do you see in her?

Prizes for Orange Dishes and Lemon Pie

Housewives are given a great chance to win a crate of luscious oranges from the California orchard of Douglas Fairbanks, the star in the film show, "Robin Hood," or a pair of seats to the same show, by sending in a recipe of some good way to prepare the fruit for the table. Address Orange Recipes, Food Editor, Boston American, Boston, Mass.

For the best recipes for making lemon pies will be given six boxes of "Good Luck Lemon," a delicious filling. Address Lemon Pie Editor, Boston American, 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

Orange and Celery Salad

Two cups of sliced oranges, 1 cup of celery chopped, 4 tablespoon of cider. Moisten with salad dressing. Arrange on platter with celery tips and lettuce leaves.

MRS. ED. O'BRIEN.
19 Puritan Street, Providence, R. I.

Sponge Lemon Pie

Squeeze the juice and grate the rind of 1 large lemon; mix 1 cup of sugar with 2 rounding tablespoons of flour; melt a piece of butter the size of a walnut; beat the yolks of 2 eggs and mix all together. Then add 1 cup of milk, and, last of all, beat the whites of 2 eggs stiff and mix in. Put into custard pie plate and bake in a moderate oven, because the whites rise to the top and form the sponge.

Syrup Pepsin Helps Nature Give Relief

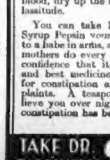
IT is not necessary to take a violent physic for so simple an ailment as constipation. Yet many thoughtless parents give mercury in the form of calomel, and coal-tar in the form of phenol when a natural vegetable compound like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will do the work equally well and without danger. People should realize that mercury may salivate and in certain conditions loosen the teeth; that phenolphthalein, by whatever name known and however disguised in candy, may cause diarrhoea and other skin eruptions; that salt waters and powders may concentrate the blood, dry up the skin and cause insanity.



You can take Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself or give it to a babe in arms, as thousands of mothers do every day, with the confidence that it is the safest and best medicine you can use for constipation and such complaints. A teaspoonful will relieve you over night even if the constipation has been chronic for years. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of plain senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and does not gripe or purge. Every druggist handles it, and bottles are so generous that the cost amounts to only about a cent a dose. You buy it with the understanding that if it does not do as claimed your money will be refunded. The senna and the ingredients are on the package.

Mrs. A. Arceneaux of Orange, Texas, suffered from constipation for six years and found no relief until she took Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. And Mrs. Gus Anderson of Ball, Kans., cures her bowel trouble so that she now eats and sleeps normally. Bring a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin into your own home and let the family use it for constipation, biliousness, wind, gas, headaches, flatulency, and to break up fevers and colds.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "What can I find a good worthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when needed?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly furnish a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me today.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

We are gradually becoming a nation of investors.

Also there is a very notable increase in the number of public utility customers who have become stock holders in the companies catering to them.

* * *

The railway people figure that, one way or another, more than 60,000,000 persons hold railway stocks or bonds.

* * *

Figures published yesterday reveal that there are fully 18,000,000 savings accounts in savings banks and other financial institutions.

* * *

Public ownership of business enterprises is thus making genuine progress; that is public ownership in the sense that greater and greater number of the public are becoming stockholders and bondholders in all kinds of industrial and transportation corporations.

* * *

Would you believe that the employes of the United States Steel Corporation have subscribed during the last twenty years for upwards of $135,000,000, par value, of the corporation's common and preferred stocks.

I hadn't the slightest idea that the figure was anything like this until I asked Secretary Leach to compile the information for readers of this column. Unfortunately, the total number of steel workers who have purchased shares under the installment plan is not disclosed, but the total, it is known, has been extremely large.

* * *

The corporation makes a special cash payment of $5 annually for five years in addition to dividends to whatever dividends are paid in the regular way. At the end of five years another special payment is made, the amount depending upon fluctuating circumstances.

* * *

The common stockholders of the steel corporation total 94,000, and the preferred 80,000, making a total of 174,000 stockholders.

* * *

Large though this total is, it isn't the largest in the country. At last accounts, the American Teleephone and Telegraph Company had 216,000 common shareholders.

Pennsylvania Railroad is owned by 140,000 stockholders.

* * *

The two most notable developments during recent years have been the encouraging of employes to become stockholders and the growth of customer ownership of utility securities.

* * *

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, although it inaugurated its employee ownership plan only two years ago, already numbers between 11,000 and 12,000 employee subscribers. This company's terms are unusually generous. It adds fifty cents to each dollar subscribed by workers. In other words the company pays one-third of the total price—the total to which is governed by market quotations preceding the date on which the offer is made.

* * *

I find increasing interest on the part of large employers in this question of employee ownership of stock. This interest is likely to become still keener should the expected scarcity of labor materialize in acute form.

* * *

Some employers who have in operation profit-sharing plans are now considering the practicability of switching over to some stock ownership arrangement. Profit-sharing is not a few instances has not accomplished the results anticipated. Even stock-ownership plans have not always proved as popular with workers as originally hoped. But, even so, the results as a whole are regarded as justifying wider distribution of the plan, especially by concerns that maintain dividends even in lean years.

* * *

The need for something of this kind to draw workers closer to their companies is likely to increase rather than decrease with the progress of the world.

Oils, Steels and Motors Are Most Active Groups in Irregular New York Market

SOUTHERN RY. IS AT NEW HIGH SINCE 1921

Oils, steels and motors were the most active groups in an irregular New York market today. Southern Railway sold at a new high since 1921, as did also Gimbel Brothers. Changes were mostly small and the trading quiet.

Continental Motor sold at a new high since listing. It was traded in heavy blocks, two sales of 8,200 shares each being recorded.

Eastman Kodak was pushed up 1¾ and Du Pont 1. U. S. Steel opened ¼ higher and was followed into higher ground by Crucible, Midvale and Gulf States steels. Early losses were limited to very small fractions.

New York Air Brake, Crucible, Can American, Baldwin, Peoples Gas, Mack Truck, U. S. Rubber, Public Service of New Jersey, Timken Roller Bearing, Goodrich and California Petroleum advanced 1 to 1¾ points.

Foreign exchanges opened firm, demand sterling being quoted at $4.39, unofficially, while marks rallied to .0054 cents as against yesterday's extreme low of .0042.

Attaining 76.1 per cent. from last week's 75.6 per cent., the Federal Reserve System ratio scored a gain that has been exceeded only twice in the last four years. This evidence of constantly growing strength of the nation's banking position furnished additional explanation for the remarkable indifference shown by American security and commodity markets to developments in the European situation.

No indications have developed to suggest that business progress in this country has been checked by the forceful measures taken by France to collect her reparations claims. Stocks benefiting most from the steady trade revival include American Smelting, United States Steel, Baldwin, Studebaker, American Smelting, Corn Products and United States Rubber.

Boston Notes

WARREN water district will receive proposals until 11 a. m. Jan. 24 for $75,000 4 per cent. coupon water loan bonds, dated Feb. 1, 1923, and maturing in each of years 1926 to 1963 inclusive.

EASTERN Massachusetts Street Railway Co. preferred, which has been selling around 63, yields at that market price 8¾ per cent. It is likely dividends will be paid semi-annually and present indications are for its maintenance.

BOSTON & Albany, according to indications, in 1922 earned a substantial surplus over rental and charges for the lessee, New York Central. December results have not yet been compiled.

UNITED Fruit's earnings in 1923 to date show well ahead of those of like period a year ago.

STRATHMORE Mills of Concord Junction, just purchased by American Woolen Company, are a small proposition and will be operated as a department of the big Assabet Mills at Maynard.

AT MEETING of board of directors of E. H. Rollins & Sons Co., Ed ward W. Rollins was re-elected chairman of the board and Walter H. Seavey of Boston president.

SENECA is said to plan to continue stamping in funds for drilling oil of Copper Range but long haul from the mine, over forty miles, seems to preclude any such arrangement when tonnage reaches large proportions.

ARCADIAN Consolidated reports very good ground on both sides of 1,250-foot level of New Baltic shaft and more than 60% feet of openings on this level, close to 500 feet were in rich rock.

AHMEER'S rock tonnage holds between 2,000 and 2,160 daily and yield, according to superintendent, continues better than 30 pounds to ton, this making splendid record in face of smaller operating force.

MIAMI Copper has 13,000 stockholders in this country, of whom 5,000 own ten shares or less.

WOLVERINE is making a profit on its operations on present prices for copper and a small sum is accruing for shareholders, despite the fact this mine is approaching the end of its career.

HORNBLOWER & WEEKS—After early strength today we believe selling will be renewed, especially in the high-priced industrial stocks which have sold well above to avoid. Nothing yet indicates that it is safe to buy the main body of stocks and we would avoid them.

BIG GAS ISSUE IS OVER-SUBSCRIBED

Subscriptions to $16,000,000 Consolidated Gas Company offering of 6 per cent. cumulative preferred stock totaled $50,000,000. Stock was offered to all customers and employes.

LONG CONTRACT ON OIL IS GIVEN

The Middle States Oil Corporation has closed a twenty-five-year contract with the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad for transportation of its Wyoming and Montana oil over the Du Pont system.

Directors have authorized the issuance of 579,533 additional shares of stock to be offered to stockholders according to subscription privilege in proportion of one share for every 29 at $11 a share, who will be permitted to subscribe up to 23⅓ per cent. of their holdings.

The contract with the St. Paul is in line with the corporation's policy of "concentration." It is the company's method that when means of transportation and storage is sufficient, to have its own pipe line and such facilities as one of the unusual sources of profit in the business.

LABOR TO ORGANIZE HUB NEEDLE TRADES

Following the conference of the general executive board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, affiliated with American Federation of Labor, recently held in Montreal, Abraham Baroff, Vice-Presidents Pearlstein and Menonson have been assigned to carry on an organizing campaign in Boston needle trades affecting cloak, dress, waist and raincoat makers. An organizing committee of 100 will hold its first meeting Tuesday.

Receiver for Rail

Lincoln C. Andrews named receiver for New York & Queens County Railway Company, in Supreme Court, Long Island City, on application of Bankers Trust Company, mortgage trustee.

SUBMARINE BOAT BORROWED

Brokers say recent enthusiastic utterances in regard to Submarine Boat are not wholly out by investigation of facts and figures. It is stated that in order to make recent payment to the Shipping Board on settlement of contracts, the company was obliged to borrow funds. This, of course, leaves the company with nothing ahead to be settled but its contracts with the navy.

The settlement depends on recommendations of the Secretary of the Navy and hope is expressed that the settlement will be made by the latter as that made by the company to the Shipping Board. One will balance the other. The company's income, therefore, depends on whatever orders are received.

AMERICAN SUGAR REFLECTS PROSPERITY

American Sugar Refining Co.'s profits from refining operations in 1923 approximated $8,000,000. This approaches to within $1,250,000 of company's best year from an operating standpoint. Company did in 1920 about 25 per cent. of the domestic refining business of the country.

PRICE OF REFINED SUGAR IS SLASHED

American Sugar Refining Company has reduced price of refined sugar 10 points to 5.50 cents for hard grades and 6.70 cents for softs. Warner Company has reduced price of refined sugar 10 points to 5.50 cents.

UNITED SHOE IS ACTIVE AND HIGHER

United Shoe was active and a shade higher in today's transactions on the Boston Stock Exchange. The market as a whole was steady with most price changes small and up rather than down.

Gains of fractions came in American Telephone, Venture Oil, American Pneumatic, Swift & Co., Waldorf, Anaconda and Walworth.

Issues slightly chipped were National Leather, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway and Amoskeag.

Most active issues on the Boston Curb were Goldfield Deep, which yielded a point at 21 on profit-taking, while Boston Elev was similarly run down five at 86. Mutual Divide was traded in unchanged at 24.

Real Estate News

The four-story and basement granite front mercantile building and 2,291 square feet of land at Nos. 177-179 High street have been sold by Daniel J. Lyne, trustee, to Ray C. Johnson. The assessed valuations are $43,000 on the land and $12,000 on the buildings. C. W. Whittier & Bro., were the brokers.

BUILDING MANAGERS ELECT.

At the annual meeting of the Building Managers' Association of the Boston Real Estate Exchange, held at the City Club, Arthur N. Maddison was re-elected chairman; Edwin D. Brooks was elected vice-chairman, and Thomas J. Stone was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The question of adopting new by-laws allowing for annual dues and membership in the National Association of Building Owners and Managers was referred to the directors of the Exchange for approval.

The report of Robert L. Shewell for the renting committee, pointed out how absolutely impossible to reduce rents and at the same time make both ends meet. Howard Whitcomb, for the committee on membership and meetings, reported on the success which their efforts had met with. The report of the committee on elevators was given by George L. DeBlois.

A rising vote of thanks was extended Frank H. Purington, following his brief statement of the results of his efforts during two years as president of the Boston Real Estate Exchange.

FAIL TO AGREE ON SO. SHORE BOULEVARD

After months of public hearings, conferences and solemn executive sessions, the State Department of Public Works and the Metropolitan District Commission today failed to agree on the route of the proposed Old Colony boulevard from Boston to Quincy and the South Shore.

The Metropolitan District Commission today recommended to the Legislature that this route be selected:

A new boulevard from the Intersection of Columbia road and the New Haven tracks in Savin Hill to Dorchester Bay; a new bridge over Dorchester Bay to Fox Point and Freeport street, Neponset; from Freeport street to Neponset bridge, thence along Hancock street to the Quincy Shore Drive. The cost would be about $1,675,000.

The Public Works Department recommended this route:

Over the proposed new boulevard from Columbia road, thence over Dorchester Bay by the proposed new bridge, thence over the Victory road and Squantum flats to the Quincy Shore Drive. This route would cost about $2,700,000, but would mean the widening of all the included streets.

The Department said more than 1,000,000 autos a year would use its proposed route and that it would form the best connecting link between the north and south of Boston.

FLONZALEYS GIVE FINE CONCERT

By ZOE FABER.

The appeal of chamber music, when given by such an organization as the Flonzaley Quartet, was once more proved before an enthusiastic audience in Jordan Hall.

There were only three numbers on the program—the Novak, in G major; the Haydn, in B-flat major, and the Brahms, in A minor.

The Haydn and the Brahms are familiar and beloved. The Novak had its own way to make and it won instant approbation.

The Flonzaleys have set a record for years on the concert stage by maintaining the highest standard of musical desire.

The individual genius and fineness of Adolfo Betti, Alfred Pochon, Iwan D'Archambeau and Louis Bailly are well-known to Boston audiences.

KATE SANTLEY, OF "BLACK CROOK," DEAD

London, Jan. 18.—Kate Santley, famous a generation ago as an actress and vocalist, is dead at Brighton. She was born in America and went on the stage in early childhood. Later she came to England, where she met with great success in various roles, ranging from Shakespere to light opera.

During the war she made a trip to America, where she played in "The Black Crook" and "King Carrot."

BUSINESS MEN REVEL IN SNOW IN C. C. FROLIC

Grays Inn, Jackson, N. H., Jan. 19.— Dignified Boston business men vied with flappers today in the opening events of Boston Chamber of Commerce Winter sports carnival.

With a mild west wind and the temperature touching the 30s and bright sun, the day was ideal for the program of skating, skiings and sleigh riding mapped out by the committee.

The visitors were abroad early and before long the snowy approaches to the Inn were dotted with heavy coats and sweaters laid aside as the sun mounted.

The amateurs provided great amusement when they essayed the difficult ski jump and both men and women flopped into dep drifts to an accompaniment of uproarious laughter.

Bill Chamberlain, chairman of the committee, has been like a jumping jack, hopping here and there to see that everyone was enjoying the first day of what appears to be the best Winter carnival held this far by the chamber.

3000 N. Y. HARBOR MEN TO STRIKE

New York, Jan. 19.—A strike of 3,000 harbor workers employed on 400 independently owned tugs, was voted at a meeting of the Associated Marine Workers to begin February 2, unless demands for a new wage scale are granted. Those affected include captains, engineers, masters, mates, pilots, oilers, firemen, mechanics and cooks.

Captains and engineers ask $40 a month increase and the unlicensed men an average increase of $25 a month.

Crews employed on railroad tugs or lighters, city-owned or government craft, will not be affected by the strike, union officials said.

H. B. JACKSON, GRAIN MAN, KILLED BY AUTO

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Howard B. Jackson, one of the best-known members of the Chicago Board of Trade and an official of the United States Grain Corporation during the war, was killed by an automobile in front of his home in Sheridan road early today. Jackson was struck by a machine driven by Carl Kaufman, an interior decorator. Kaufman was held.

Ervin Wardman—A Good Newspaper Man

And a First-Class American Citizen

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

He understands his business and attends to it. He gets the news accurately and comments on it fairly. He knows that his real duty is to the mass of human beings that read his newspaper, not to a few of special influence.

The newspaper man is a sentry. He keeps his eyes open for the people while they are asleep or at work and reports to them.

Ervin Wardman's definition of a newspaper man fitted him exactly. He was among the best and ablest, most earnest and least conceited of the editors of the United States.

Mr. Bryan Is No Klux-er

Yet, Read Dr. Baker's View

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

Dr. Thomas S. D. Baker, secretary and acting president of the Carnegie Institute, an admirable power for good in the world of science and in the work of civilization, denounces justly those who, contented with their own base ignorance and incapacity for new thought, would check intellectual energy in others.

He links together Mr. William J. Bryan and the Ku Klux Klan in a way that won't please either of them, but in a way eminently just:

I cannot refrain from mentioning as recent samples of mediaevalism the fight of Bryan to enlist the unthinking people in his struggle to stifle freedom of thought in the field of science and the efforts of the Ku Klux Klan to reduce the country to a state of mob rule.

A State of Manhattan

Interesting, but Unlikely

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

A New York Assemblyman, Mr. Cuvallier, once more introduces a bill to add another State to the Union, or, rather, to carve another State out of New York State by creating the "State of Manhattan." That would make a separate State of New York city.

It WOULD, but it probably WON'T. The Tenderloin might like to separate itself from the rest of the ox and be an ox all by itself. But the rest of the ox might ask, "Who's going to feed you, Mr. Tenderloin, after the separation?"

Big cities may think they are independent of the farmers around them, but they are mistaken. It is the farmers that are independent. They CAN live without the cities, drinking their own milk, eating their own eggs. But cities can't do without farmers.

One Thing Americans Know

Namely, What They Don't Want

Copyright, 1923, Star Company

The withdrawal of American troops from the Rhine, a most ordinary expression of common sense, annoys our friends in Paris. The Midi says: "The American government doesn't know what it wants."

Some truth in that. There has been what modern dancers would call "hesitation" in our foreign policy.

But the American people at least know what they DON'T want. That is of some importance. They don't want any administration, feeble or otherwise, mixing them up in European affairs. Those gentlemen across the ocean may fight and rob each other and settle it among themselves.

Embargo on Coal

Everyone Should Sign Petition to Congress Asking That Exportation Be Stopped Until This Country Is Supplied

Congressman Rogers has proposed to the President that the government should place an embargo upon the exportation of coal to foreign countries until the American people have been secured in what coal they need.

Can anybody doubt the propriety of this plan? We are shipping coal to Canada in greater quantities than we have ever shipped there in recent years. In Canada the coal dealers advertise American coal. They have so much more coal than there is normal demand for that they have to advertise it.

Now it will not be treating our very good neighbor, Canada, in any way that is unfair and unneighborly. Canada did not hesitate to levy an embargo on wood pulp when it profited her to do so. She is steadily giving preference to British goods, and her preference, we understand, is increasing progressively. The practice of levying embargoes to prevent a scarcity of some essential material is universal.

We urged this embargo in this column several weeks ago. We urge it again. There is in another column in this newspaper the form of a petition to Congress for such an embargo. If enough people of New England should sign this petition we assure our readers that the men in Congress from New England would promptly bestir themselves and we should soon have coal. What do we have men in Congress for? What do they think they are doing there, anyway? Do they think that we send them there to draw their salaries and strut around mimicking statesmen, but resembling real statesmen in nothing except the mimicking?

Now you may think that your protest will not count. It would not count if made alone, but if all of you take that view there will be no protest made. Why should you be selfish and let the other fellow do it? If you want coal or, having it, want your neighbor to have it, why should you hesitate to spend a two-cent stamp in order to send your petition to us? We will pay all the other expenses of presenting it effectively to Congress.

A Dividend of Taxes, Tombstones and Ingratitude

By Herbert Kaufman

PERNICIOUS anemia can only be relieved by the transfusion of blood. Europe still believes that America can be brought to open her veins again and pour her resources and vitality into an exhausted body economic.

It won't be done. We've already spent too much strength and money over there.

We paid our debt to civilization—cash on the nail. Also we paid cash to England and to France for army supplies. Incidently they've still to pay us for billions' worth purchased here.

We came back with empty knapsacks and empty ranks. We brought along no new boundary lines, no conquered territory. The sad and only dividends from that investment are taxes and tombstones and ingratitude.

We're Not Dining With Foxes

Gentlemen who insist that there can be no League of Nations unless we participate bring to mind the foxes who invited a fat hen to dinner. The hen was the dinner. Experience advises us not to dine with foxes.

Mr. Wilson and his enthusiasts imagined that the United States could take a minority interest in foreign concerns and control them. Minorities don't control.

Back to the Spirit of '76

Other peoples' trouble may look for funds and partnership elsewhere. We're not buying into bungles. Besides, partnership with Europe works two ways: It also means surrendering the management of America. And don't you ever forget that.

The formula of our success is self-reliance and opportunity. Which makes for self-sufficiency. We're still self-sufficient.

Decoration chasers, sentimentalists and false-idealists, who would change Columbia into a maudlin Lady Bountiful, misread the spirit of 1923. It's again the spirit of 1776. No taxation without representation and no representation in any situation likely to tax us for the benefit of outsiders.

Overseas news daily fortifies this determination. The sober judgment of the American people expressed in the elections of 1920, congratulates itself hour by hour. The fathers of the republic knew. May our sons be as wise.

The Veins of Civilization

Meanwhile, we're doing very nicely, thank you. Anaconda's total stock issue was absorbed at opening. Plenty of work at hand for all the energy and surpluses looking for good jobs.

Thirty thousand experts are doing a good job in Chicago at the good roads convention. New highways bring fresh possibilities. Roads are the veins of civilization. Rome was a road.

Roads are cheap no matter what they cost; they enable farmers, for instance, to save time, and when a farmer saves enough time he saves the equivalent of another hand.

Lo! The Poor Farmer

Agriculture is in difficulties. Congress is flooded with relief measures. Federal assistance will help some, but a little management will do more. Our farmers are very bad managers. They have no conception of system or budgets or conservation.

They can't figure operating charges, they don't take care of equipment and machinery. Commercial enterprises conducted with the same haphazardness become insolvent, too.

On the other hand, the farmer is viciously exploited. He is preyed upon by middlemen and lenders. Seasonal labor takes advantage of his pressing needs. Transportation charges often absorb his entire selling price. Freight delays and congested terminals rot and spoil his shipments.

He is only responsible for half his difficulties. Incompetence picks one of his pockets—rascals, poor facilities and long hauls the other.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

MAKING LAWS

By Bruno Lessing

BUCKLE, in his "History of Civilization," says:

"The love of exercising power has been found to be so universal that no class of men who have possessed authority have been able to avoid abusing it.

"To maintain order, to prevent the strong from oppressing the weak, and to adopt certain precautions respecting the public health, are the only services which any government can render to the interests of civilization. That these are services of immense value, no one will deny; but it cannot be said that by them civilization is advanced or the progress of man accelerated. All that is done is to afford the opportunity of progress; the progress itself must depend upon other matters."

Just now, when legislatures are convening in many of our States, it might not be a bad idea if every lawmaker, with a bill which he is going to introduce, tucked away in his pocket, were to read those words and digest them.

These are great days for fool laws. If all the suggestions that are made throughout the country were enacted into law you would find that every act of your daily life, from blacking your shoes to putting on your pajamas, was controlled by legislative or governmental regulation.

There is only one way of improving people and helping civilization along, and that is by education. Force is of no avail.

Bull in Barn on Long Fast

BERCAIL, Mont., Jan. 19.—The record for fasting by a domestic animal is believed to have been established here when a Hereford bull, owned by Carl Burke of Bercail, was found in a deserted barn after having strayed from the rancher's herd.

Apparently the bull had entered the barn and brushed the door shut, making itself a prisoner. He had been without food or water for thirty-six days and was reduced to a skeleton, but it is believed he will recover.

Do Dogs Go to Heaven?

Editor Boston American:

Now without doubt the majority of the readers of this letter will scoff at the bare possibility of a canine having the blessing of eternal life, but taking all things in consideration my question is: Is it fair that God should single out of all of his creations man and his kind and leave all other of his creations to perish miserably, with no encouragement or any promise of a life to come? Man is beyond all shadow of doubt on a much higher plane intellectually, but he nevertheless is an animal, according to Darwin and some of our most profound students of nature.

Take for instance the imbecile who is incapable of speech, or even the first of childhood's teaching, cleanliness. Is he any more entitled to entrance to heaven than friend dog? Who certainly is more intelligent, and who observes all rules of cleanliness, and who never knowingly wronged one of his own kind or mankind.

England and Opium

Editor Boston American:

Concerning your editorial, "Fighting the Dope Evil," it is paradoxical how England prates about civilization and uplift whilst at the same time, through her unlimited control and diffusion of opium, she seeks to undermine these very forces.

In 1920 the English government had 654,928 acres in opium poppy—practically the whole world supply. I understand it has a factory in Calcutta where opium is sold monthly at auction.

In Ceylon, according to a White Paper issued by the Home Office, there is an official register of 12,000 licensed opium consumers. In the Straits Settlements the traffic in this devilplant is deplorable. There are more than 200 public smoking resorts (opium divans) and retailers can purchase at will. Smuggiers do a roaring trade.

Rubber Boots

Editor Boston American:

I am writing these few lines to ask you if there is any chance in the world for me to get a pair of rubber boots or overshoes. I have been out of work for five months and could get a job in South Boston where there is a lot of water, but have no shoes at all. I have a sick wife and a baby at home.

Radio for Shut-In

Editor Helping Hand:

I wonder if there is among your readers one who has a complete radio set they would be willing to give a shut-in. I am a young man and have been an invalid from rheumatism for five years. The radio would be a great boon to me, and I would pay as much as I possibly could for one.

E. B. C.

ED. NOTE—The Radio Editor says there must be lots of fans who have given up small sets for more complete ones who would be glad to dispose of the old one.

Angora Cat

Helping Hand Editor:

MRS. S. J. T.

ED. NOTE—Mrs. G. C. has been supplied, but no doubt some other reader would like it.

Will Send Skates

Editor Helping Hand:

If you will kindly furnish me with the address of F. L. S., who asked for shoe skates, I will gladly send a pair to him.

MRS. M. D.

ED. NOTE—F. L. S. has been supplied by a kind North Cambridge woman. I am sure some other youngster will want these, and I shall hold your letter. Size to 4½ shoe.

Sends Proxy to Prison

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—Having been sentenced to one month's imprisonment, John Grienat, a Berlin tailor, violently disliking the idea of losing his personal freedom, persuaded his assistant, Charles Bernick, to go to jail "by proxy." A new suit of clothes was agreed upon as a fitting compensation.

All during his month's term the grateful boss supplied him amply with food packages. Everything had gone well when on the very day of his dismissal Bernick had the bad luck of running into an acquaintance in the warden's office who hailed him by his real name.

The fraud was discovered. Grienat was sentenced to nine months and his unlucky "proxy" had to spend another five months on top of the one of voluntary imprisonment.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON THE TEMPERATURE OF AIR

By Garrett P. Serviss,

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

"I would like to know if there is any truth in the statement that a temperature of 158 degrees is reached in Northwestern Australia, or anywhere else on earth.—W. F. B., Philadelphia."

IF the temperature meant is that of the open air, the statement is doubtful. Some of the extraordinary high Summer temperatures reported by amateur observers in Northwestern Australia have been received with skepticism by meteorologists. Still, that is a sandy, partly desert land and known to be one of the hottest regions of the earth. General Grely says that:

"The highest temperatures of the world occur over the desert of Sahara, the plains of India, in the interior of Australia and in the valleys of the Gila and Southern Colorado in America."

He records a personal experience in the Maricopa Desert, Arizona, on August 28, 1877, when the air temperature rose to 114 degrees, while the metal of his aneroid barometer, beside him as he rode, attained a temperature of 144 degrees. The highest recorded air temperatures at meteorological observatories hardly ever exceed 120 degrees, and records as high as, or surpassing that, are rare.

Extraordinary local temperatures are somewhat capricious in distribution. New York city had a temperature of 100.3 in September, 1881, and at the same time the thermometer in Washington rose to 104.3, and in New Haven to 100 degrees.

An instrument specially constructed to absorb heat, like a "black bulb" thermometer, and protected against the escape of heat, will, of course, record a higher temperature by many degrees than that of the free air. Then, too the direct effects of the sun's radiation are much increased at high elevations where the air is relatively thin and clear.

In Thibet, at an elevation between 11,000 and 13,000 feet, water has been boiled by simply putting it in a blackened bottle protected from loss of heat by being inclosed in a larger transparent bottle. And Professor Langley, on Mount Whitney, elevation 14,500 feet, with a protected black bulb thermometer, noted a temperature of 236 degrees, or 34 degrees above the boiling point. This suggests that if the earth were smooth-surfaced and covered with only a thin envelope of clear air, it might be nothing but a huge frying pan on the side exposed to the sun. Thus we find the air temperature rises to 114 degrees, while the metal of his aneroid barometer, beside him as he rode, attained a temperature of 144 degrees. The highest recorded air temperatures at meteorological observatories hardly ever exceed 120 degrees, and records as high as, or surpassing that, are rare.

Thus we find the air temperature fitted by a careful adjustment of density to its double use of both shutting off and keeping in heat of solar origin, in suitable proportions to favor the needs of the earth's inhabitants.

Extreme low temperatures in the temperate zone are perhaps of more frequent occurrence than proportionately high temperatures. Some of these approach the temperatures of the polar regions. Fifteen degrees below zero is about the limit of low temperature records on the Atlantic coast except for Maine, where as low as between 21 and 32 degrees below zero have been recorded.
